Court Makes Finding On Creachbaum

Prosecutor Says Supreme Court Upholds Conviction

Pickaway County Prosecutor Roy Huffer Jr. says an Ohio Supreme Court ruling Wednesday closes the case against Greenfield farmer Tom Creachbaum, "unless we can find other grounds on which to try him."

The high court upheld an appellate court reversal of Creachbaum's conviction on charges of writing 18 bad checks totaling more than $1.2 million.

Creachbaum was sentenced in 1969 by Pickaway County Common Pleas Court to four to 28 years in prison, but has remained free on $50,000 bond pending outcome of appeals.

Huffer commented today that the ruling of the Supreme Court did not indicate whether Creachbaum can be tried under another charge as the Fourth District Appeals Court noted. The appellate court, in their reversal of Creachbaum's conviction, indicated that the farmer should have been tried on a different charge and recommended obtaining property under false pretenses.

"The only error I find in the Supreme Court's action," Huffer noted, "is that they based their decision on the fact that presidents of the First National Bank of New Holland and the First National Bank of Sabina knew of the check scheme at the time the checks which were used as evidence were written. There were other checks which Creachbaum wrote before the bank officials learned of the affair."

The prosecutor noted that it might be possible to use these first checks to convict Creachbaum.

Pakistani Planes Hit Indian City

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pakistani planes strafed the capital of India's Tripura State today, adjacent to East Pakistan's southeast border, an Indian government spokesman announced in New Delhi.

The spokesman said the Indian army had been ordered to take immediate "defensive action," indicating it would cross the border. The government used the same phrase in connection with the three previous advances into East Pakistan which it has admitted.

The Indian spokesman gave this account:

Five U.S.-supplied F86 Sabre Jets bombed and strafed the city of Agartala, 60 miles due east of Dacca, and its airport for 20 minutes this afternoon.

A number of civilians were killed or wounded, but anti-aircraft guns prevented any damage to the airfield.

Agartala has been under heavy shelling since 8 p.m.

RFK Grave Changed

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than three years after an assassin's bullet ended his life, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's remains have been placed in a permanent grave in Arlington National Cemetery.

Officials said Wednesday it took three hours to move the remains to the new site, located about 100 feet south of the original grave and 125 feet from the grave of his older brother, President John F. Kennedy.

The work was done Tuesday night after the cemetery's gates were closed to the public. The senator's widow, Ethel, and younger brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, were present for the transfer.

The new gravesite, marked with a simple, white wooden cross as the temporary one had been, consists of a granite-paved walkway leading from the late president's burial place to a semicircular plaza paved with granite blocks. A small reflecting pool on the east side is bordered by a granite wall engraved with quotations of the late senator.

The government paid slightly more than a fourth of the $747,000 spent for the permanent gravesite, and the Kennedy family paid the rest. President Kennedy's grave cost $2.4 million, of which the government paid $1.8 million.

Ohio Assembly In Chaotic Situation

State Income Tax Revived

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Another bill calling for a personal and corporation income tax was in the works today as a fourth joint House-Senate committee began yet another try at breaking a nine-month deadlock on a budget-tax bill.

Sen. Howard Cook, R-1 Toledo, chairman of the latest committee, said the new bill probably would be a compromise between the last two measures that faced a Senate floor vote.

Its formation came after a hectic legislative day that saw the House reject and three hours later reconsider and pass a $207 million interim budget for December.

The interim budget, the eighth in a row, was expected to get a reluctant signature by Gov. John Gilligan today. Gilligan's press secretary, Robert Tenenbaum, said Gilligan "has no desire to let state employees starve."

State payroll checks are due Dec. 10. The only other financial obligation was the salaries of the legislators, themselves, and their staffs. They were due at the same time the vote came.

Seventeen legislators were absent when the first vote came on the interim budget. It failed 47-34 with one Democrat voting for it and two Republicans voting against.

A hurryup call to absent legislators by House Speaker Charles Kurfess, R-4 Perrysburg, brought three absentees back into town.

Rep. John Bechtold, R-67 Cincinnati, who voted against the bill the first time around, moved that it be brought up again. He then voted for it. It passed 51-33. Fifty votes are needed for passage of any bill before the House.

Rep. James Thorp, R-90 Alliance, and Rep. William Hinig, D-32 New Philadelphia, crossed party lines on both roll calls. Thorpe voted against the measure and Hinig voted for it.

The bill, unlike earlier temporary budgets, had two items not related to state expenditures. One of them Democrats liked. The other they didn't.

Monetary Breakthrough Reported

ROME (AP) — Finance ministers from the non-Communist world's richest nations, the Group of Ten, achieved a major breakthrough here toward resolving the international monetary crisis, delegation sources reported today.

For the first time in the 3½ months of deadlock, the United States showed it is prepared to consider devaluing the dollar.

The three-day conference, which ended Wednesday night, agreed to continue the discussions in Washington Dec. 17-18. But the real significance of the Rome meeting, by most official accounts, was a major shift in the U.S. negotiating stand. As a result, the shoe is now on the other foot.

Before the Rome meeting, America's major trading partners were putting all the pressure on the United States to say what it would contribute to a settlement package. The Europeans and the Japanese demanded a dollar devaluation against gold as part of general currency realignment.

The Americans turned the question around here. They asked the others what they would do if the United States did devalue the dollar. How far would they revalue their currencies upward and what trade restrictions would they remove in return? The same questions will be on the table in Washington.

All the discussions were hypothetical. No one made any commitments. But for the first time, specific figures were thrown out to test reactions. The possibility, and only the possibility, of a dollar devaluation was raised.

U.S. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally dramatized the shift in American bargaining tactics during these probings.

At one point, authoritative sources said, he asked the others what they would do if the United States devalued the dollar 10 per cent. The reaction was stunned silence. The meeting broke up for an hour and 40 minutes.

Throughout the impasse Connally had been the symbol of an absolute American refusal to consider devaluing the dollar by raising the official price of gold, now $35 an ounce.

Connally's mention of a 10 per cent devaluation, was not a serious offer. But it demonstrated that the Americans had opened the negotiations to a wide range of possibilities that had been blocked before.

Senate OKs Wage-Price Extension, Back Pay Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed 85 to 4 a bill permitting President Nixon to continue wage, price and rent controls through April, 1973.

The measure also contains a provision designed to give retroactive wage increases to most employees who lost them because of the Aug. 15-Nov. 14 pay freeze.

The Senate vote sent the legislation to the House where the Banking Committee is scheduled to meet again today in an effort to finish work on its version.

The panel failed on an 18-15 tie yesterday to clear the bill. It had tentatively worked out. But various compromises were to be offered to break the deadlock.

Though the Senate rolled up an overwhelming vote for the bill, many members said they voted for it with great misgivings.

There was some confusion surrounding the retroactive pay feature—the major Senate addition to what Nixon originally said he wanted.

The administration resisted such increases during the freeze and has continued this stand since the Pay Board was established, despite organized labor's vociferous objections.

The Senate provision would allow raises negotiated before the Aug. 15 freeze so long as these were not "unreasonably inconsistent" with the 5.5 per cent guideline established by the Pay Board for Phase 2.

Sponsors said they wanted to make sure teachers and most others denied their raises would now receive them.

Late in the debate, the administration sent word it would accept this language; some senators speculated the White House was short of the votes needed to strike it from the bill and so decided to support retroactivity.

An AFL-CIO spokesman said labor lawyers were convinced the provision would obtain most of the retroactive raises labor is determined to get.

Expect Demos To Hold Fast On Campaign Finance Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate conferees grapple today with a controversial provision to finance presidential campaigns with federal income taxes, the only remaining issue in a battle between President Nixon and Democratic leaders over a tax bill.

In a day-long session Wednesday, the conference resolved all other differences between House and Senate versions of the legislation, stripping it of tax-relief amendments Nixon said were unacceptable.

The President threatened to veto the bill if it reaches him containing a provision allowing individuals to earmark $1 of their income taxes for presidential election expenses.

All parties would share the funds, but the financially strapped Democrats need them the most.

Despite the White House threats, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, House Appropriations Committee chairman and head of the House conferees, says the Democrats will hold fast on the check-off provision.

Mills told the Capital City Democratic Club Wednesday he doesn't think Nixon will veto the bill because it is a main part of his new economic program and another tax bill would face a rocky road.

Mills said, however, Nixon "sometimes does what others do not dare to do," and added: "He'll have the opportunity of passing judgment."

In earlier sessions, the conferees scaled down the tax-relief provisions to a level they believe the administration will accept. On Wednesday the committee:

—Discarded provisions authorizing the President to impose quotas, a surcharge of 15 per cent or other import restrictions to protect the balance of trade.

—Approved a compromise version of authorizing tax breaks to exporters. Half their income from exports would get the favored treatment.

—Dropped a provision for special unemployment benefits in areas of high joblessness.

—Approved a tax credit for employers hiring welfare recipients participating in the Work Incentive Program.

Mrs. Meir Meets With President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel confers with President Nixon today in what is considered an effort to dispel misunderstandings between the two countries.

Although Mrs. Meir has softened her public comments on the U.S. position in the Middle East in the past few weeks, she is expected to insist once again that Israel needs more U.S.-built Phantom jet fighter-bombers.

The administration has halted Phantom deliveries to Israel, and officials said Mrs. Meir probably would get no firm commitment of renewed deliveries today.

Police Quell Chile Protest

Food Shortages Spark Outbreak

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Police went into action with tear gas and water cannon Wednesday night after young leftists attacked 5,000 women protesting food shortages.

At least 88 persons were injured in the night of rioting, including five with gunshot wounds.

In the biggest demonstration yet against Marxist President Salvador Allende's government, the women banged pots and pans together and hooted at posters of visiting Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro as they paraded through downtown Santiago.

As the four-block-long parade made its way toward the presidential palace, mobs of leftist youths attacked the women with volleys of stones. This touched off retaliatory attacks by youthful hard hat brigades from the right-wing National party and the Christian Democratic party, the biggest anti-Allende party.

The police called in reinforcements and fired salvos of tear gas grenades and water at the women and the young battlers. They scrambled into alleys and entrances of offices and apartment buildings, then rioting spread across the city.

After the parade was dispersed, a group of anti-Marxist youths demonstrated in front of Allende's high-walled suburban mansion. A youth living nearby said he heard gunshots fired from a car, but other neighbors and police said the noise came from half a dozen carloads of women and youths who sped past the residence hurling bags of water and noise bombs.

British Troops Fire On Auto

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops opened fire on an automobile early today and army headquarters said it believed a guerrilla gunman was hit.

A spokesman said a patrol first fired rubber bullets, breaking the car windows, after it refused to stop at a road-block and tried to run a soldier down.

A gun was seen pointing out a window, the spokesman said. A soldier then fired a single shot and the man behind the gun slumped. The car sped away.

Senate Votes On Nomination Of Dr. Butz

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted today to confirm the nomination of Dr. Earl Lauer Butz as secretary of agriculture.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Earl L. Butz appears certain to win Senate confirmation today as secretary of agriculture despite bitter farm-state opposition and the obvious misgivings of some Republicans.

An Associated Press Poll showed 52 senators prepared to vote for confirmation, 39 opposed and eight uncommitted.

Assistant Republican leader Robert Griffin said he counted 32 "hard" votes for Butz.

Two leading opponents foresaw a Butz victory also. Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., said he could count only 38 votes against Butz. And Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, said opponents figure on 42. Both men were hoping for a few more votes to strengthen the protest against a nominee they portray as a foe of family farming, a champion of agribusiness and an enemy of poverty programs, the environment and consumers.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kans., the GOP national chairman, said the opposition has a blatant political base, founded on Democratic hopes to make inroads in farm states during 1972's presidential election.

But Dole himself told newsmen he might have picked a candidate other than the 62-year-old Purdue University dean.

Senators' mail has been running heavily against Butz. Many senators declaring their intention to vote for Butz said they did so reluctantly, out of respect for the tradition of allowing any president his choice of cabinet advisers.

Sens. Harris, Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., said the lives and livelihoods of hundreds of thousands of family farmers are at stake in this nomination.

Cambodians Abandon Key Town

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian forces have abandoned the town of Baray after repeated attacks by the North Vietnamese 9th Division, bringing the 20,000-man northeastern front to the point of collapse, authoritative sources reported today.

The sources said that while the Cambodian command was reporting fighting was still raging at Baray, the town 60 miles northeast of Phnom Penh was in fact evacuated Wednesday by several battalions of government troops.

The sources said the soldiers retreated 12 miles north through rice paddies to the town of Taing Krasing, bypassing the embattled Cambodian garrison at the town of Kompong Thmar on Highway 6. Heavy fighting, frequently hand-to-hand, was reported at Kompong Thmar, and the sources said the town would also be abandoned today.

Military observers said the fall of Baray was the worst defeat the Cambodian government had suffered in its 20-month-old war with the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong. Baray has been the forward headquarters of the Tchenla 2 operation on the northeast front, and the town was defended by the 1st Brigade Group, considered one of the army's best fighting units.

U.S. B52s and A37 light bombers joined in an attempt to slow the North Vietnamese onslaught on the western side of the Mekong River.

Pakistani Planes Hit Indian City

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pakistani planes strafed the capital of India's Tripura State today, adjacent to East Pakistan's southeast border, an Indian government spokesman announced in New Delhi.

The spokesman said the Indian army had been ordered to take immediate "defensive action," indicating it would cross the border. The government used the same phrase in connection with the three previous advances into East Pakistan which it has admitted.

The Indian spokesman gave this account:

Five U.S.-supplied F86 Sabre Jets bombed and strafed the city of Agartala, 60 miles due east of Dacca, and its airport for 20 minutes this afternoon.

A number of civilians were killed or wounded, but anti-aircraft guns prevented any damage to the airport.

Agartala has been under heavy shelling since 8 p.m.

RFK Grave Changed

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than three years after an assassin's bullet ended his life, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's remains have been placed in a permanent grave in Arlington National Cemetery.

Officials said Wednesday it took three hours to move the remains to the new site, located about 100 feet south of the original grave and 125 feet from the grave of his older brother, President John F. Kennedy.

The work was done Tuesday night after the cemetery's gates were closed to the public. The senator's widow, Ethel, and younger brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, were present for the transfer.

The new gravesite, marked with a simple, white wooden cross as the temporary one had been, consists of a granite-paved walkway leading from the late president's burial place to a semicircular plaza paved with granite blocks. A small reflecting pool on the east side is bordered by a granite wall engraved with quotations of the late senator.

The government paid slightly more than a fourth of the $747,000 spent for the permanent gravesite, and the Kennedy family paid the rest. President Kennedy's grave cost $2.4 million, of which the government paid $1.8 million.

Price Board Gets Tough On Big Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission has warned American businessmen against assuming they can pass the full cost of high wage increases on to their customers.

In reducing a requested price hike from a coal company, the commission Wednesday placed itself at odds with the Pay Board which recently okayed a 15 per cent wage and benefit increase for coal miners.

The decision also raised Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson to status as the dominant figure within President Nixon's apparatus for battling down inflation.

"This coal settlement was made after the wage guidelines were known," Grayson said in announcing that the Old Ben Coal Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of Ohio, would be allowed to pass along only 9.6 per cent of the wage hike.

From now on, Grayson said, the commission "will take a very careful look" at any request for a price hike based on wage settlements above the Pay Board's 5.5 per cent guideline.

Was he saying that firms which sign hefty wage contracts approved by the Pay

Board are not yet "out of the woods" when they go before the Price Commission?

Grayson responded with a firm "Yes."

In the case of Old Ben, the commission allowed a 3.78 per cent price increase. The firm had sought a 6.71 per cent hike.

Officials of the United Mine Workers said the commission's actions would have no effect on their newly negotiated contract.

But Carl E. Bagge, president of the National Coal Association, said in a sharply worded statement:

"If, with one hand, the government has approved a wage contract, another hand of government cannot legitimately compel the industry to operate at a loss."

Grayson said the same criteria used in limiting Old Ben will be applied across the board in the coal industry.

Grayson also described preliminary results of a survey the commission is taking of the pricing intentions of the nation's top 1,500 businesses.

Of 500 who answered a survey request, he said 20 per cent will not raise prices, 60 per cent said they would request modest increases and 20 per cent were noncommittal.

There were, meanwhile, these other economic developments:

—A buoyant stock market rallied with a strength some analysts attributed to growing confidence in the economy.

—General Motors released a few examples of how it would distribute the 2.5 per cent average price raise approved by the Price Commission: Chevrolet Vegas' suggested retail price will be hiked by $51 to $2,251; a full-size Chevrolet Impala four-door hardtop with basic V-8 engine will increase by $109 to $3,519.

Lancaster Man Found Guilty Of Three Traffic Violations

Harry W. Snyder, 52, Lancaster, was convicted of three separate motor vehicle violations Thursday in Municipal Court by acting Judge Harry Margulis.

The charges were filed Wednesday by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Norm McClelland following his investigation of two accidents involving Snyder west of the city Wednesday.

According to an eye-witness report, Snyder, driving on Route 62, 4.55 p.m. Wednesday, lost control of his car on the right side of the road, destroying four mail boxes and a guard rail. The boxes were owned by F. F. Passwater, John Jenkins, Paul Houser and Jim Snyder, all of Route 3, Mt. Sterling.

According to the Deputy's report, Snyder drove his heavily damaged car from the scene of the accident and was involved in another wreck 20 minutes later on Route 56.

He was allegedly driving on the wrong side of Route 56, when he apparently spotted a truck, driven by Harold Dunn, 56, Mt. Sterling, coming towards him. He skidded back to the right lane, but struck the front end of Dunn's truck.

Both vehicles sustained front end damage, however, neither driver was injured in the accident.

McClelland charged him with leaving the scene of an accident, driving left of center and operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

When told of his rights Thursday by Margulis, Snyder first asked for a continuance of his case so he could obtain a lawyer.

Bond was set at $660 and his case was ordered continued until Dec. 14.

But he later pleaded guilty to the OMVI and left of center charges and no contest to leaving the scene of an accident.

Margulis fined him $150 and costs, sentenced him to 3 days in the Pickaway County jail and suspended his license for a year on the intoxication charge.

He ordered him to pay $50 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident and $25 and costs for driving left of center.

In other court hearings, Sara Ruth East, 39, New Holland, was found guilty of driving through a railroad crossing while warning lights were operating and fined $10 and costs.

Paul Adams, 34, 972 S. Pickaway St., and Bill J. Thompson, 30, 354 E. Mound St., forfeited $19 bond on the charge of speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 zone.

Hearing Held For Conley Appeal

Judges of the Fourth District Court of Appeals heard testimony on only one case today — the appeal of Robert G. Conley — while in session in Pickaway County Court of Appeals.

Conley, of Westerville, was given a sentence of one to five years in the Ohio Penitentiary after a jury found Conley guilty of aggravated assault.

The Westerville man was accused of attempting to kidnap a 23-year-old Columbus secretary, Beverly Ann McDade, on Route 23 near Gold Cliff Park south of Circleville. The incident took place in January, 1970, when Miss McDade had stopped her car near Congo Creek because of auto trouble.

The young woman claimed Conley attempted to kidnap her at gunpoint in a skirmish, but his try was foiled by the arrival of a Highway Patrolman.

Conley has been free under $5,000 bond since his conviction Jan. 6, of this year, pending outcome of his appeal.

Six other cases had been scheduled for hearing this month, but were not prepared so the court continued hearing on them until a later date.

Stock List Goes Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices slipped lower as the profit-takers moved into the market in today's fairly active trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dipped 2.19 to 843.82.

Declines held a small lead over advances on the Big Board. Earlier, advances held a wide lead over declines.

Analysts called the profit-taking normal after the market's recent sharp gains. The Dow average rose some 46 points in the past four sessions.

Big block trades included 186,100 shares of Gillette, unchanged at 37 1/2, and 165,300 of Shell Oil, off 1 at 41.

Oils and steels were unchanged. Rubber issues and aircraft were up. Rails, metals, and utilities were mixed. All other stock categories were lower.

The Environmental Protection Agency has awarded $11.6 million to Dallas, Tex.

Students Act In Skits To Learn Languages

By ALISON LERRICK
PARIS (AP) — "Just put it down on the round thing with four legs."

If you can't remember how to say "table," you must talk your way around it at International House, the language school for people who are old enough to speak to strangers.

"A good mimic will be good at languages, and a good actor will have a good accent ... provided he has not had a traumatic shock in his youth from a teacher who told him he was stupid," says John Haycraft, school head.

In 1953, then a Yale M. A. in drama and history, Haycraft started his first classroom in Cordoba. Since then, he has globe-trotted his school into 27 cities, including Bangkok, Tokyo, Tripoli, Beirut, Athens, Algiers and Lisbon.

At any given time, there are 20,000 students somewhere in the world in front of a "white board" — instead of a black, to start out with a clean slate — but only 10 to a class. Expatriates-to-be prepare to make the plunge. Travelers, among them plane loads of American students on vacation, learn how to speak as the Romans — or Malaysians or Moroccans — do.

"The French, English and Spanish are the worst students because they had empires and imposed their languages on others," says Haycraft. He speaks six languages, the same ones as his Swedish wife. Their three children, ages 12, 10 and 6, are only fluent in two apiece.

Foreign Aid Still Stalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's insistence that the foreign aid bill contain the amendment calling for withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Indochina in six months apparently is complicating efforts to resolve Senate-House differences on the bill.

Conferees agree the Mansfield amendment and two others aimed at tightening control over U.S. operations in Southeast Asia more than money differences are blocking an agreement.

Rep. Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, responded to Mansfield's intransigence Wednesday by opposing a suggested compromise providing for a separate House vote on the withdrawal amendment if agreement can be reached on the rest of the aid bill.

"I won't do that," he told reporters.

Sight Wreckage Of Helicopter Near Phu Bai

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. search aircraft today sighted the wreckage of a helicopter believed to be the CH47 Chinook that disappeared with 33 Americans aboard along the northern coast last Sunday.

Ground troops were en route to the crash site, the U.S. Command said.

The wreckage was spotted 12 miles southeast of Phu Bai, but because of the mountainous terrain, rain and low clouds search helicopters were not able to get a good look, the command said.

The CH47 Chinook was carrying five crewmen and 28 infantrymen of the 101st Airborne Division from Da Nang to Phu Bai, 50 miles north of Da Nang, when it vanished during a thunderstorm.

FDA Institutes Cheese Recall

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says the importer of Le Roitelet brand camembert and brie cheeses is recalling 4-and 8-ounce packages of both types after discovering they contain harmful bacteria.

The FDA said Wednesday 143 persons are reported to have fallen ill as a result of eating the French cheeses. Three were hospitalized.

The agency announced Friday Le Roitelet camembert was being recalled and added brie to the recall list Wednesday.

Don Juans may want to learn French, the better to ooze with savoir-faire, but businessmen everywhere are boning up on English, the language of business. IBM sends its Dutch, Danish, Swedish and Spanish engineers to London for a crash course.

Everyone else may call executives "sir," but their teachers — circa age 25 and trained at the rate of 1,000 a year in London central headquarters — call them by their first name "to create an atmosphere."

"When you call the Japanese by their first names, they romp around like Italians," chuckles Haycraft. In Japan, they study Spanish too. In Rome, the biggest demand is for Italian. In Paris, German is coming into fashion, but English is still lengths ahead.

"Seeing is remembering" is the school's battle cry. So, to make the constructions "I will take off" and "I have taken off" stick in your mind, Haycraft organizes stripteases, both beginner and intermediate levels. "They only go as far as decency permits," he adds hastily.

Willy-nilly, the students must lay aside their inhibitions and act in skits, "since speaking a foreign language is like playing a role." To play Englishmen, they star in one of Haycraft's favorites: "a girl with double vision goes to the oculist."

After 80 hours wrestling with a language, the students "begin to make sense." Some demand to be "totally bathed, even with lunch in English." Others are more satisfied by "regular doses," three hours daily, while those with low tolerance can only stand three hours a week.

Politeness is taught on the telephone, a toy one. One student must persuade another to lend him his car, while the embarrassed car-owner is forced to refuse gracefully, knowing his friend is a bad driver.

When more or less in command of their tongue, they set off on "Walks in Paris." In a hotel, they take turns playing receptionist and client who complains about his uncomfortable room. On a walk to the Louvre to describe the paintings, everyone takes time out to describe a motorcycle.

Learning the language is not enough, though. You must learn what it means. "What does 'yes' mean?" he asks. "You can say it five different ways." The accent, therefore, is the content, which leads to all kinds of misinterpretations by a beginning ear.

Rogers Backs Security Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers has signaled U.S. support for a European security conference that would move toward cutting down the long-standing divisions between East and West Europe.

U.S. strategists long have been cool to repeated Kremlin calls for a general European security parley, partly on grounds that Moscow mainly wants to ratify the Communists' post-World War II hold on East Europe.

In the most specific public U.S. response on the European conference proposal to date, Rogers told an Overseas Writers Club dinner Wednesday night:

"We would firmly oppose any attempt to use it to perpetuate the political and social division of Europe."

"We would see a conference ... as a step on the long road to a new situation—a situation in which the causes of tension are fewer, contacts are greater, and the continent could once more be thought of as Europe rather than as two parts."

The courts have ruled they violate law, specifically noting that appropriations bills are law upon the governor's signature.

The other provision, the one that stirred most of the Democratic animosity, permits Secretary of State Ted Brown to hire outside legal counsel in lawsuits concerning reapportionment. The fee would be borne by the state.

Brown is one of two Republicans and five state officials on the board that redraw legislative boundaries. State law requires Atty. Gen. William Brown, a Democrat, be the legal adviser for all state officials involved in state-connected legal transactions.

Rep. Robert Levitt, R-91 Canton, said it was impossible for the attorney general to equally represent both Republicans and Democrats in a situation where self-interests were at stake.

"He's going to be carrying water for the governor, defending that funky plan he and his cronies came up with," said Levitt.

Ferguson Won't Pay Brown Lawyer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today said he would pay no legal fees Secretary of State Ted W. Brown might incur in any Republican challenge of legislative reapportionment.

Ferguson is a Democrat and Brown a Republican. Democrats rammed through a legislative reapportionment plan Sept. 30 at the last meeting of the Apportionment Board.

Both Ferguson and Brown sit on the five-member board which this year was dominated by Democrats. The apportionment plan, if allowed to stand, will govern state legislative districts for 10 years.

"Ted Brown is not authorized by the apportionment board to hire a Republican lawyer to represent him as a member of that board and I'll not pay any of his fees," Ferguson said.

"Let Ted Brown take me to court and we'll see who wins."

The eighth interim state budget approved Wednesday by the legislature authorized Brown to hire private counsel in any suits against actions of the apportionment board.

Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, a Democrat represents state officers in legal actions. Brown is the apportionment board's legal representative.

Secretary of State Brown was notified Wednesday of a temporary restraining order against proceeding with next year's legislative elections because of a suit pending in U.S. District Court at Youngstown. A hearing on that suit is set for Friday. Republicans have filed another action in the Ohio Supreme Court to block use of the reapportionment plan.

"We appointed the attorney general and will get him for nothing," Ferguson said. "I'm not going to pay any other lawyer $100 per day or more to represent Ted Brown or any other member of the board."

The apportionment board is made up of Democrats Gov. John J. Gilligan, Ferguson, and State Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland, and Republicans Brown and Rep. Robert A. Manning, R-94 Akron.

handed down early in February, 1969, by a jury who signed guilty verdicts for 18 separate counts. All were for kiting checks between the New Holland and Sabina banks. He said the funds were used as operating money on a farm he bought in 1965. The bankers claimed that they continued taking the bad checks with the knowledge that Creachbaum would sell his farm.

In upholding the reversal, the Supreme Court noted the checks had been written with the knowledge of both bank presidents.

"When a bank president accepts checks written on an account which he knows does not contain sufficient funds to honor them, and where such checks are written for deposit in his bank, the maker of the checks cannot be guilty of issuing checks with intent to defraud the bank," the court said.

Creachbaum manipulated the accounts until February, 1967, when the Sabina bank refused to honor any more checks and the New Holland bank had to take the loss.

Deaths

MR. ZOA BETHEL

Mr. Zoa Bethel, 78, of Lockbourne, died early Wednesday at his home.

Born Nov. 22, 1893 in Vinton County, he was the son of Lee and Ellen Bennett Bethel.

Lancaster Man Found Guilty Of Three Traffic Violations

Harry W. Snyder, 52, Lancaster, was convicted of three separate motor vehicle violations Thursday in Municipal Court by acting Judge Harry Margulis.

The charges were filed Wednesday by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Norm McClelland following his investigation of two accidents involving Snyder west of the city Wednesday.

According to an eye-witness report, Snyder, driving on Route 62, 4.55 p.m. Wednesday, lost control of his car on the right side of the road, destroying four mail boxes and a guard rail. The boxes were owned by F. F. Passwater, John Jenkins, Paul Houser and Jim Snyder, all of Route 3, Mt. Sterling.

According to the Deputy's report, Snyder drove his heavily damaged car from the scene of the accident and was involved in another wreck 20 minutes later on Route 56.

He was allegedly driving on the wrong side of Route 56, when he apparently spotted a truck, driven by Harold Dunn, 56, Mt. Sterling, coming towards him. He skidded back to the right lane, but struck the front end of Dunn's truck.

Both vehicles sustained front end damage, however, neither driver was injured in the accident.

McClelland charged him with leaving the scene of an accident, driving left of center and operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

When told of his rights Thursday by Margulis, Snyder first asked for a continuance of his case so he could obtain a lawyer.

Bond was set at $660 and his case was ordered continued until Dec. 14.

But he later pleaded guilty to the OMVI and left of center charges and no contest to leaving the scene of an accident.

Margulis fined him $150 and costs, sentenced him to 3 days in the Pickaway County Jail and suspended his license for a year on the intoxication charge.

He ordered him to pay $50 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident and $25 and costs for driving left of center.

In other court hearings, Sara Ruth East, 39, New Holland, was found guilty of driving through a railroad crossing while warning lights were operating and fined $10 and costs.

Pick Adams, 34, 972 S. Pickaway St., and Bill J. Thompson, 30, 354 E. Mound St., forfeited $19 bond on the charge of speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 zone.

Woman Injured In 2-Car Mishap

A two-car accident 2:08 p.m. Wednesday at the intersection of W. Main St. and Western Ave. resulted in injury to a California woman.

Ethel Sing was treated for injuries suffered when the car in which she was a passenger was struck in the rear by a car driven by Ronald L. Scarberry, 22, Stoutsville.

Dolores J. Brantley, 52, Columbus, told city Ptl. William Pontious she was westbound on Main St. and had stopped for a train on the crossing when the Scarberry auto struck the rear of her car.

Students Act In Skits To Learn Languages

By ALISON LERRICK
PARIS (AP) — "Just put it down on the round thing with four legs."

If you can't remember how to say "table," you must talk your way around it at International House, the language school for people who are old enough to speak to strangers.

"A good mimic will be good at languages, and a good actor will have a good accent ... provided he has not had a traumatic shock in his youth from a teacher who told him he was stupid," says John Haycraft, school head.

In 1953, then a Yale M. A. in drama and history, Haycraft started his first classroom in Cordoba. Since then, he has globe-trotted his school into 27 cities, including Bangkok, Tokyo, Tripoli, Beirut, Athens, Algiers and Lisbon.

At any given time, there are 20,000 students somewhere in the world in front of a "white board" — instead of a black, to start out with a clean slate — but only 10 to a class. Expatriates-to-be prepare to make the plunge. Travelers, among them plane loads of American students on vacation, learn how to speak as the Romans — or Malaysians or Moroccans — do.

"The French, English and Spanish are the worst students because they had empires and imposed their languages on others," says Haycraft. He speaks six languages, the same ones as his Swedish wife. Their three children, ages 12, 10 and 6, are only fluent in two apiece.

Foreign Aid Still Stalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's insistence that the foreign aid bill contain his amendment calling for withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Indochina in six months apparently is complicating efforts to resolve Senate-House differences on the bill.

Conferees agree the Mansfield amendment and two others aimed at tightening control over U.S. operations in Southeast Asia more than money differences are blocking an agreement.

Rep. Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, responded to Mansfield's intransigence Wednesday by opposing a suggested compromise providing for a separate House vote on the withdrawal amendment if agreement can be reached on the rest of the aid bill.

"I won't do that," he told reporters.

Sight Wreckage Of Helicopter Near Phu Bai

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. search aircraft today sighted the wreckage of a helicopter believed to be the CH47 Chinook that disappeared with 33 Americans aboard along the northern coast last Sunday.

Ground troops were en route to the crash site, the U.S. Command said.

The wreckage was spotted 12 miles southeast of Phu Bai, but because of the mountainous terrain, rain and low clouds search helicopters were not able to get a good look, the command said.

The CH47 Chinook was carrying five crewmen and 28 infantrymen of the 101st Airborne Division from Da Nang to Phu Bai, 50 miles north of Da Nang, when it vanished during a thunderstorm.

FDA Institutes Cheese Recall

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says the importer of Le Roitelet brand camembert and brie cheeses is recalling 4-and 8-ounce packages of both types after discovering they contain harmful bacteria.

The FDA said Wednesday 143 persons are reported to have fallen ill as a result of eating the French cheeses. Three were hospitalized.

The agency announced Friday Le Roitelet camembert was being recalled and added brie to the recall list Wednesday.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

No person who is enthusiastic about his work has anything to fear from life.

Presented As A Public Service Every Day By FIRST NATIONAL BANK Circleville

Don Juans may want to learn French, the better to ooze with savoir-faire, but businessmen everywhere are boning up on English, the language of business. IBM sends its Dutch, Danish, Swedish and Spanish engineers to London for a crash course.

Everyone else may call executives "sir," but their teachers — circa age 25 and trained at the rate of 1,000 a year in London central headquarters — call them by their first name "to create atmosphere."

"When you call the Japanese by their first names, they romp around like Italians," chuckles Haycraft. In Japan, they study Spanish too. In Rome, the biggest demand is for Italian. In Paris, German is coming into fashion, but English is still lengths ahead.

"Seeing is remembering" is the school's battle cry. So, to make the constructions "I will take off" and "I have taken off" stick in your mind, Haycraft organizes stripteases, both beginner and intermediate levels. "They only go as far as decency permits," he adds hastily.

Willy-nilly, the students must lay aside their inhibitions and act in skits, "since speaking a foreign language is like playing a role." To play Englishmen, they star in one of Haycraft's favorites: "a girl with double vision goes to the oculist."

After 80 hours wrestling with a language, the students "begin to make sense." Some demand to be "totally bathed, even with lunch in English." Others are more satisfied by "regular doses," three hours daily, while those with low tolerance can only stand three hours a week.

Politeness is taught on the telephone, a toy one. One student must persuade another to lend him his car, while the embarrassed car-owner is forced to refuse gracefully, knowing his friend is a bad driver.

When more or less in command of their tongue, they set off on "Walks in Paris." In a hotel, they take turns playing receptionist and client who complains about his uncomfortable room. On a walk to the Louvre to describe the paintings, everyone takes time out to describe a motorcycle.

Learning the language is not enough, though. You must learn what it means. "What does 'yes' mean?" he asks. "You can say it five different ways." The accent, therefore, is the content, which leads to all kinds of misinterpretations by a beginning ear.

Rogers Backs Security Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers has signaled U.S. support for a European security conference that would move toward cutting down the long-standing divisions between East and West Europe.

U.S. strategists long have been cool to repeated Kremlin calls for a general European security parley, partly on grounds that Moscow mainly wants to ratify the Communists' post-World War II hold on East Europe.

In the most specific public U.S. response on the European conference proposal to date, Rogers told an Overseas Writers Club dinner Wednesday night:

"We would firmly oppose any attempt to use it to perpetuate the political and social division of Europe."

"We would see a conference ... as a step on the long road to a new situation—a situation in which the causes of tension are fewer, contacts are greater, and the continent could once more be thought of as Europe rather than as two parts."

make legal the 3 per cent austerity cuts imposed by Gilligan. Court decisions have invalidated similar cuts Gilligan has already made in welfare and nursing home payments. The courts have ruled they violate law, specifically noting that appropriations bills are law upon the governor's signature.

The other provision, the one that stirred most of the Democratic animosity, permits Secretary of State Ted Brown to hire outside legal counsel in lawsuits concerning reapportionment. The fee would be borne by the state.

Brown is one of two Republicans and five state officials on the board that redraw legislative boundaries. State law requires Atty. Gen. William Brown, a Democrat, be the legal adviser for all state officials involved in state-connected legal transactions.

Rep. Robert Levitt, R-91 Canton, said it was impossible for the attorney general to equally represent both Republicans and Democrats in a situation where self-interests were at stake.

"He's going to be carrying water for the governor, defending that funky plan he and his cronies came up with," said Levitt.

Money Market Hectic In Europe

LONDON (AP) — The possibility of devaluation sent the dollar plunging to record lows on major European exchanges today.

Market conditions were generally described as hectic and state banks in Paris and London were reported buying substantial amounts of dollars to slow the decline in value.

In Switzerland, banks were limiting dollar transactions to a maximum of a million per customer.

1,500 Blind Persons Are Employed By Canadian Firm

TORONTO (AP) — A. N. Magill, totally blind as a result of an accident 44 years ago, sits in the driver's seat of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and maintains it is his type of influence that sightless persons have over the lives of others in the same situation that has made the CNIB "unique" among world organizations with the same aim.

Magill, who as managing director is the paid boss of 1,500 CNIB employees from coast to coast, says the remarkable thing about the institute is that "the blind people are contributing to the operation of the organization."

"There isn't a department here, except accounting which requires accurate work with figures, in which you do not have a registered blind person. This has made it famous."

Magill, who completed high school and later received his master of arts degree in economics after losing his sight, said he believes the future for the totally blind and the partially blind is in training.

"There are 230 blind persons enrolled in Canadian universities today. I am confident the future holds great promise for blind persons if we all take full advantage of the multitude of aids, resources and services that are available."

"We would like to see blind persons of every age complete high school or university and those who have lost their sight after completing their education learn techniques which are valuable on the job market today."

"As far as blind people are concerned, the person with professional or semi-professional experience has no trouble with employment at a reasonable level. He finds personal and employment independence."

To illustrate his point, Mr. Magill said that at a recent seminar of blind and partially blind computer programmers a number of them said they had recently changed jobs.

"A few years ago this would have been unheard of. If you had a job you kept it because chances were you would never get another one. You didn't go rocketing all over Canada looking for jobs. This is a tremendous achievement. I see more and more of this happening."

In his present position, Magill, 61, heads a $4-million a year operation which serves 27,000 blind persons through 50 offices in Canada.

Court Makes

handed down early in February, 1969, by a jury who signed guilty verdicts for 18 separate counts. All were for kiting checks between the New Holland and Sabina banks. He said the funds were used as operating money on a farm he bought in 1965. The bankers claimed that they continued taking the bad checks with the knowledge that Creachbaum would sell his farm.

In upholding the reversal, the Supreme Court noted the checks had been written with the knowledge of both bank presidents.

"When a bank president accepts checks written on an account which he knows does not contain sufficient funds to honor them, and where such checks are written for deposit in his bank, the maker of the checks cannot be guilty of issuing checks with intent to defraud the bank," the court said.

Creachbaum manipulated the accounts until February, 1967, when the Sabina bank refused to honor any more checks and the New Holland bank had to take the loss.

Deaths

MR. ZOA BETHEL
Mr. Zoa Bethel, 78, of Lockbourne, died early Wednesday at his home.

Born Nov. 22, 1893 in Vinton County, he was the son of Lee and Ellen Bennett Bethel.

He was a former resident of Pickaway County, a veteran of World War I and was retired from Buckeye Steel Casting Co. after 40 years service.

Surviving are his wife, Octavia; three sons, Roy, Groveport, Harley, Reynoldsburg, and Ralph, Johnstown; three daughters, Bernice Krumm, Wellston, JoAnn Mangrum, Florida and Miss Donna Bethel, Ashville; one stepson; three stepdaughters, 21 grandchildren and one great-grandchild; two brothers and two sisters.

Services will be 2:30 p.m. Saturday at the Lockbourne Church of Christ in Christian Union with burial in Fernwood Cemetery, Franklin County.

Friends may call at the O. R. Woodyard Funeral Home, 1346 S. High St., Columbus, from 7-9 p.m. Thursday and 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. Friday.

Thugs Attack Man At Local Plaza

An attempted strongarm robbery 3 p.m. Wednesday in front of Buckeye Mart, Lancaster Pike, is being investigated by Circleville police.

Reclamation Rules Hit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Conservation Council of Ohio told a Senate committee Wednesday proposed reclamation regulations should include all surface mine operations, not just coal mines.

Legislation currently before the legislature deals only with reclamation of land stripped for coal.

Lew Watkins, director of the Conservation Council, told the Senate Highway and Urban Affairs Committee that all surface mining in Ohio should be brought under "mandatory reclamation."

Watkins also criticized landscaping requirements of the strip mining bill as being "completely unrealistic in most of the areas being mined."

He said the measure would "almost put an end to development of lakes and ponds in the reclamation of strip mine areas" because it calls for contouring the land with no depressions to hold water.

IS YOUR FAMILY KEEPING YOU FROM HAVING A SPORTS CAR?

If you think a sports car isn't big enough for a man with a family, you haven't seen the Fiat 124 Sport Coupe. It has enough room inside for four 6-foot men. With baggage.

Yet it is a real sports car. Not just a sporty-looking car. It'll take you from zero to 70 in 14.6 secs., it has a DOHC engine, a five-speed gearbox and disc brakes on all four wheels.

It's not only the kind of car you really need when you're driving a family; it's the kind you've always wanted when you're by yourself.

Reclamation Rules Hit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Conservation Council of Ohio told a Senate committee Wednesday proposed reclamation regulations should include all surface mine operations, not just coal mines.

Legislation currently before the legislature deals only with reclamation of land stripped for coal.

Low Watkins, director of the Conservation Council, told the Senate Highway and Urban Affairs Committee that all surface mining in Ohio should be brought under "mandatory reclamation."

Watkins also criticized landscaping requirements of the strip mining bill as being "completely unrealistic in most of the areas being mined."

He said the measure would "almost put an end to development of lakes and ponds in the reclamation of strip mine areas" because it calls for contouring the land with no depressions to hold water.

New Wrinkle

Whether it is just a gigantic put-on leading up to the 1973 elections or a sincere effort, a campaign of some proportions in the Philippines to gain statehood with the United States for the islands has one unique feature. The signs read 'Yankee, come back,' instead of 'Yankee, go home.'

Founders of the movement claim to have 2.5 million followers. Recent polls in the three largest cities indicated a preference for statehood ranging from 49 to 65 per cent. Backers of the statehood proposal do not include members of the government, but it is apparent they are surprised by the numbers in favor of the idea.

The Philippines have serious problems and the statehood movement provides an outlet for frustrations. Citing reasons for the movement, one of its leaders pointed to "terrific social and economic problems."

"And the people," he added, have lost all confidence in the government, public officials, politicians — they only talk, talk, talk."

More people emigrated to the United States from the Philippines last year than from any other place. There can be no doubt that these Filipinos found the 51st state idea intriguing but taking too long.

Cancer Inquiry Expands

Both House and Senate of the United States Congress are solidly on record as opposed to cancer, not surprisingly. By votes of 350-5 in the House and 79-1 in the Senate, two versions of a plan to step up research and expand the government's role in uncovering the causes of cancer have been passed.

Details remain to be worked out in conference, but both versions would place tighter federal control over much cancer research. Both also would greatly increase the appropriations to support this effort.

The House version would authorize $1.6 billion to be spent over three years, an annual spending rate double that of only one year ago. But money alone is not going to strike down cancer as the number two killer in the United States. It may even delay the day of discovery if misapplied.

"In the end it is brainpower alone which can lead us to our goals," the President said, referring to the cancer program. There should be no illusions that merely spending more money will produce a cancer cure tomorrow. Neither must political interference be permitted to slow down progress research is making toward reaching the total objective.

Celebration Plans Progress

If there hasn't been any news of plans to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the United States, it was because preliminary stages of such preparations are never spectacular. International Exposition plans will be presented to President Nixon by Jan. 5 by the Philadelphia 1976 Bicentennial Corp.

This news comes from Paris, where the Bureau of International Expositions has received a progress report.

A site on the Delaware River, near Philadelphia, has been decided on for the exposition, according to Henry Putsch, a member of the Bicentennial Corp. staff. He compared it to a site Montreal had used for its exposition.

President Nixon is expected to make a decision on the recommendations to be submitted to him within 90 days, after which formal invitations will be issued to foreign governments to participate. Those who have been in touch with the planners and have seen the preliminary plans do not anticipate there will be any hitch in preparations for the celebration.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — An aerial war is under way in the seemingly peaceful skies through which businessmen and tourists travel.

It involves the nation's regularly scheduled airlines and the charter, or supplemental, lines. The charter lines also are called unscheduled.

Says a spokesman for one scheduled line, referring to an industry position paper:

"The financial condition of the U.S. airlines is being eroded by the supplemental carriers. Flying whenever they want and wherever they want—at their convenience—they are taking more and more of the transatlantic business."

In 1970, he said, the six U.S. supplemental lines carried 12.5 times more passengers on the North Atlantic route than they did in 1964. The two U.S. scheduled lines carried 2.5 times more passengers in the same period.

Says Steedman Hinckley, head of Overseas National Airways, a leading charter line:

"They're taking our business away from us. Anytime we take from them it's an original sin, but it's always open season on us."

The two systems have always been a bit jealous of each other.

The scheduled lines get the bulk of the business but that bulk includes some unprofitable flights, routes and seasons. The supplementals must settle for fewer flights, but these are almost always full.

If their ordinary relationship to each other wasn't irritating enough, their feelings were rubbed raw by the reduction in military flights, which hurt both scheduled and supplemental carriers.

That wasn't all. Airlines must order their planes well in advance, with one result being they are prone to over-order rather than under-order, and that is just what they did, especially with the huge 747s.

"Capacity comes in surges and waves," says Hinckley. "The 747 was one big wave, the biggest of all. It was too much too soon. The timing was unfortunate."

As he sees "Anytime the scheduled carriers have more seats than passengers they cut rates to compete with each other and then they come after our business."

The scheduled carriers certainly have cut their rates—or plan to do so—especially on the routes to Europe, but they do not concede that they are seeking the business of the supplementals. That business, they tell you, is really theirs, for they too are permitted to run charter flights.

With plenty of capacity, they say, why shouldn't the scheduled lines go after more charter business? The supplementals concede the point, but they make a very serious claim against the regular carriers.

"They have come up with low-cost loss leaders in their fare structures as though they were operating overstocked supermarkets," says Hinckley. "Their rates are noncompetitive and destructive to competition."

Hinckley claims that in their efforts to win more charter business the regular lines not only have cut advertised rates but have developed an "under-the-counter" business 30 per cent lower. He makes a passing reference to what he considers a rather low ethical level.

The scheduled lines deny their intent is to destroy competition by beating down rates to unprofitable margins, but there is little question that earnings of both types of carriers are off, perhaps dangerously so.

Hinckley maintains the supplementals can still undersell the scheduled lines. Offseason New York to London, he says, the supplementals can offer a $130 roundtrip rate, compared with the lowest scheduled rate of $180.

The charter, which must fly with all seats filled, is the most economical way to sell, he says. "If they eliminate us then the cartel is going to have higher prices when their business comes back."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The special beauty of snow seems to recall to many of us youth at play. It brings fond remembrances of exhilarating outdoor exercise and activity.

Herein lies a potential hazard to health that is far too frequently overlooked.

A patient of mine who lives in Maryland visited his children in North Dakota.

A four-hour plane trip hardly allowed him time to adjust to the cold, snowy area.

Almost immediately he was gambling in the snow with his three grandchildren.

Then, with the memories of his youth, he began arduous snow-shoveling that taxed him to the point of exhaustion, and did, in fact, precipitate a mild heart attack.

There is a lesson that many of us must learn. Anyone who has reached middle age, is overweight, and has a history of high blood pressure or any chronic illness should heed this lesson.

They should proceed with caution before undertaking exhausting, strenuous exercise such as snow-shoveling.

It is unfair to expect that the muscles and body of a sedentary chess player can suddenly take on the arduous demands of snow-shoveling that would tax a well-conditioned halfback.

It is accepted that exercise in some form, and in moderation, is beneficial to good health.

But sane, sensible exercise deserves considerable and planned muscle conditioning to avoid converting exercise into a distinct health hazard.

Overexertion with handball or even tennis singles can be extremely dangerous if too great a burden is put on the body.

Those who proudly say they played handball until they were seventy usually did so in sensible moderation and by keeping themselves in a constant state of physical fitness.

It is a pathetic experience to review the thousands of casualties and thousands of lost working hours and lost school hours that result each year from skiing accidents.

The toll in fractures of every bone in the body, and the medical expense of these injuries is astronomical.

Despite all warnings, enthusiastic skiers of all ages rush to the slope and dare to take chances that they have no right to take.

Coupled with a sense of responsibility must be a careful choice of excellent equipment, if fractures and disabilities are to be avoided.

I know a surgeon who was an excellent skier and who loved the healthy outdoor ambience of skiing activity.

After two accidents, he said "I no longer can afford the luxury of skiing because of the possibility of fracturing my hands."

He continued to go to the ski resorts with his friends and found a great deal of pleasure in many other activities in the snow scene.

Authority Fades

By JEFFERY HART

Authority is a precious but also a perishable thing, and to remain in existence it must be jealously conserved. Above all, it must remain credible. And this is true whether one is speaking of intellectual, political or religious authority. At present, the authority of the American Catholic Bishops is in serious danger of undergoing what in the political realm we call Stassenization, i.e. the total loss of credibility.

Take the five-day meeting of the American bishops in Washington. President Nixon, as everyone knows, is engaged in a very delicate process of withdrawing from Vietnam. When he took office, we had the equivalent of 11 combat divisions in South Vietnam. Now the last U. S. combat division, the 101st Airborne, is beginning its phase-out. Overall U. S. troop strength, well below the 200,000 mark, is at its lowest point since 1964, and U.S. casualties are minimal. Even Peking recognizes that the U. S. is disengaging.

The South Vietnamese, however, continue to resist the efforts of Hanoi to absorb them. And in his press conference, President Nixon declared that the U. S. would continue to provide air and logistical support "until there is a negotiated settlement or . . . until the South Vietnamese have developed the capability to handle the situation themselves."

Now along come the bishops, and after a good deal of hugging-mugging about wording, pass a resolution calling for an end of the war "with no further delay."

In the real world this is a largely pointless statement, and if it has any practical effect at all, which is doubtful, it can only be to prolong the fighting. Even the bishops must recognize that President Nixon is ending American involvement at the maximum rate consistent with prudence. Do they therefore imagine that their resolution will have great weight in Hanoi, and lead the North Vietnamese to call off their invasion? Or do they think that President Thieu will heed their advice — and surrender forthwith? The only possible practical effect can be to encourage Hanoi to hope for a collapse of American will to do anything at all to help the South, a hope that would only prolong the fighting.

The rationale offered by the bishops is singularly unconvincing. They speak of the loss of life and the destruction of moral values, and conclude that the bad will exceed the good if the war goes on. But how anyone is to make such a calculation remains elusive. What factors, specifically, were listed under "bad" and "good" in the bishops' ledger? Did their accounting confine itself to Vietnam, or did it include wider — even global — factors as well? Their conclusion is certainly not self-evident.

In point of fact, any sophisticated person knows that the bishops' resolution has precious little to do with Vietnam. Listen to Lawrence Cardinal Shehan, the archbishop of Baltimore. It would be a disaster, he said, for the meeting to disband without making such statement "when young people have such problems of conscience about the matter." That "young people" gives the game away, and I can offer a rough translation of the cardinal's meaning: the Church, he means, doesn't cut much ice with the kids these days, so, maybe, if the bishops say something of this kind things will pick up.

Thus speaker authority. When I said it was doubtful that the statement would have any effect in the real world, I neglected to say that one effect would be a further erosion of the bishops' authority — if, indeed, that is an event in the real world.

Views on Television

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Tad Moser's 11-year-old play, "All The Way Home," was given a poignant, skillful production Wednesday night on NBC.

As usual with "Hall of Fame" programs, it was a meticulous and handsomely mounted production. Also as usual, it was beautifully acted. The cast was headed by Joanne Woodward, Richard Kiley and an extraordinary young boy named Shane Nickerson.

The play was an account of a family's reaction when the husband and father was killed in an auto accident, and it concentrated on the wife and 6-year-old son.

The principals—husband, wife and child—were introduced in a situation that led to a difference of opinion, which was revealing of their life together. They obviously loved each other deeply, but he had conquered an alcohol problem and the wife was extremely religious. This was followed by a scene when they and other members of their family—his aged parents and an obnoxious brother—visited his 103-year-old grandmother, all to set up further family relationships.

Jay went off to his death the following day. Joanne Woodward, as the wife was excellent and her shock and hysteria as a widow was impressive. Richard Kiley made the husband a quixotic character. Pat Hingle's loudmouth brother was a solid study. The boy was utterly appealing and convincing.

Something vital, however, was missing—lost undoubtedly in reducing a full-length play to 90 minutes including the commercials. The viewer did not have quite enough time to understand Jay—a mixture of warmth and affection plus something of a loner. At any rate, his death was less affecting than it was in the play.

NBC's Board of Directors has elected David C. Adams as its chairman effective the first of the year. Retiring Chairman Walter D. Scott, who has been with NBC and its parent RCA for 33 years, will continue as a director.

Adams, an attorney, has been with the network since 1947 and for the past two years has served as executive vice president.

Nielsen ratings for the week ending Nov. 21 put CBS' "All in the Family" in first place, followed by ABC's "Movie of the Week," a film about troubled teenagers, "Mr. and Mrs. Bo Jo Jones," starring Desi Arnaz Jr. "Marcus Welby, M.D." was third.

Rain, Snow Dampen Wide Area Of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain or snow dampened wide areas of the nation today and temperatures remained chilly throughout the Northern States.

A major storm blanketed the southern Rockies and adjacent Plains with snow. Three inches fell at Las Vegas, N.M., in the early-morning hours atop 8 inches that had fallen since the storm began Wednesday.

Two inches of snow fell at Pueblo, Colo., and Gage, Okla.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for northeastern New Mexico, southeastern Colorado, southwestern Kansas, and the Texas Panhandle and northwestern Oklahoma.

Another storm front slapped the Pacific Northwest coast with gales and brought light snow to the interior. Travel warnings were issued for mountain areas of northern California.

Light snow fell in the Great Lakes region and the Gulf states were dampened by light rain.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 75 at Miami, Fla., to -1 at Massena, N.Y.

Home For Holidays Plan Under Way

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — More than 100 upstate New York GIs serving in Vietnam can come home for the Christmas holidays on leave using airline tickets paid from public donations in six counties.

The "Home for the Holidays" program, introduced in Cortland County last year when 16 servicemen were brought home, has attracted financial support from individuals, business firms and civic groups.

Practical Politics Meeting Slated By College Students

CHICAGO (AP) — Young people representing hundreds of colleges are expected this weekend at Loyola University to learn some lessons in practical politics which they hope will affect the Democratic party's presidential choice in 1972.

The Emergency Conference of New Voters, expected to attract 1,000 persons, is billed as the first major political youth rally of the season, and all the Democratic presidential hopefuls have asked to send representatives.

But the major business at the conference will be the drafting of a position paper which may be sent to both parties and all potential candidates, reported Dave Wassner, project director of the conference.

"Without doubt, the paper will be antiwar," Wassner said, "and very probably it will be anti-Nixon. It has to be liberal considering the way kids are today."

Creta Draper, a conference staffer whose husband Duane is chairman of the conference, admits most of the youths will be working to convince the Democratic party that "we are a force to be dealt with."

"Most of the young people are liberal and it's just not possible for them to work in the Republican party because it's so closed," she said.

Conference leaders say they do not want the group to endorse a specific "youth candidate," but they admit the likelihood of individual state caucuses arguing for a specific choice.

"For at least six months, we would not like to have an endorsement. We want people working at the local level," Wassner said.

Jail Inmates Seek Probe By Court

CLEVELAND (AP)—A suit filed in U. S. District Court here on behalf of 11 inmates at the Cuyahoga County Jail asks the court to intervene in the operation of the jail to stop systematic brutalization and dehumanization of inmates.

It alleges that county officials named as defendants have deprived inmates of their civil rights.

Swearing-In Ceremony Is Attended

Miss Mary Ellen Downs of Route 1, Orient and Miss Marty Dore of Columbus, formerly of Ashville, returned recently from a trip to Washington, D. C. where they attended the swearing-in ceremony on Nov. 29 of Judge Robert M. Duncan as a member of the United States Court of Military Appeals. Judge Duncan was formerly a Justice of the Supreme Court of Ohio where Miss Dore was his secretary.

Justice Potter Stewart of the United States Supreme Court administered the oath of office to Judge Duncan. Other officials attending were Secretary of Defense, Melvin Laird; Judges, William Darden, William Quinn and Homer Ferguson of the United States Court of Military Appeals, and a number of military officers representing the Department of Defense.

On Monday evening Miss Downs and Miss Dore attended a dinner honoring Judge and Mrs. Duncan. Hosted by The Sophisticated Club, the affair was held at the Century Club in Washington.

Shower Fetes Mrs. Spradlin

Mrs. Ralph E. Young of 1041 Sunshine St., was hostess for a miscellaneous shower in her home recently honoring Mrs. Marvin Spradlin (Susan Lanman) of Mt. Sterling. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Kenneth Blue, Mrs. Robert Sampson and Mrs. Joseph Blue.

Games were played and the prizes awarded were presented to the bride.

Mrs. Spradlin opened her gifts from a table decorated in pale yellow, green and white.

Guests were Mrs. Mace Overly, Mrs. John West, Mrs. Richard Banks, Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. Jack E. Brooks, Mrs. Elmer Yeatts, Mrs. Gertrude Seymour, Mrs. James W. Dean and Michele, Mrs. Earl Lanman, Barbara Lanman, Mrs. Robert L. Woodward and Jacqueline Sampson.

Couple Plans To Marry In March

KAREN DEBRA WHITE

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene White, Route 2, Ashville, announced the engagement of their daughter, Karen Debra, to Johnny Gerald McCoy, Columbus, son of Mrs. Mabel McCoy, Rush, Ky.

Miss White is a graduate of Teays Valley High School and is employed by the General Electric Lamp Plant in Circleville.

Mr. McCoy graduated from Boyd County High School in Ashland, Ky. and is employed by the Pfeiffer Printing Company of Columbus.

The wedding will take place March 4, 1972.

Mrs. Tammany Homemakers Club Speaker

Mrs. Fred Tammany was featured speaker Tuesday for the annual Extension Homemakers Christmas Meeting entitled "Christmas Is Everywhere." Mrs. Tammany explained Christmas customs in her native country, Hungary, then related experiences of living under Communist control in that country.

Approximately 150 women and children viewed the bazaar tables and displays provided by the Extension Homemaker Clubs. The Circleville Bible College Trio entertained the group with Christmas songs and Mrs. Penni Nielsen gave tips on relaxed entertaining for the holiday season. Mrs. Donna Beougher led the group in singing Christmas carols and Mrs. Doris Parsons distributed the door prizes.

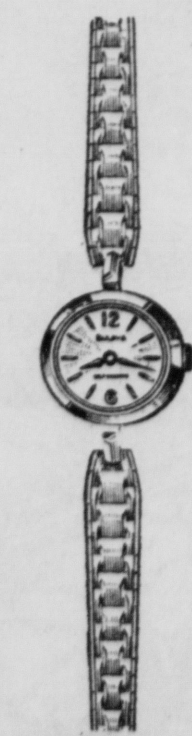

Mrs. Riegel expressed appreciation to the following committees: registrations, Katherine Mead, Margaret Shane and Lida Ross; elevator and chairs, Ralph Beadle, Turney Ross and Joseph Peters; decorations, William Cook and Pauline Cook; refreshments, Roberta Webb.

Announcement was made that the next meeting will be 8 p.m., Dec. 14th followed with a Christmas Party. Members will exchange gifts.

A reception in the dining room followed the installation. Tables were decorated with arrangements of red roses and lighted tapers. The serving table was adorned with a centerpiece arrangement of Fuji mums and red roses. Presiding at the silver service were Carol Bowling and Marie L. Hamilton.

Members are requested to bring a gift for their secret pal. Names of secret pals for the past year will be revealed and new names drawn for the coming year. All members are urged to attend.

OEA Opens Convention

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Education Association's 1200 delegates representing 90,000 members began a three-day session at Veterans Memorial Auditorium here Thursday with an election and a legislative program on the agenda.

The delegates will be presented a series of resolutions, including ones on school finance, desegregation and teacher protection.

Some reaction of delegates to the stymied budget-tax measure in the Ohio General Assembly is expected during the sessions. Earlier the association had criticized legislators for inaction. The group has met in emergency session two times previously this year.

Richard High, a Mansfield classroom teacher, and Donald Traxler, assistant professor of education at Ohio Northern University, are candidates for the office of president-elect.

Garden Club Council Holds Holiday Event

Council of Pickaway County Garden Clubs held its annual holiday program and tea in the Commercial Point United Methodist Church recently. Commercial Point Garden Club members were hostesses for the event.

Mrs. Bernard Savey, president, presided over the meeting and welcomed members and their guests. Mrs. Marie Gibson, program chairman, introduced Carl Wetherell pastor of the church, who led in prayer and meditation.

The "Share And Tell" program was presented by members of each garden club. Holiday arrangements, wreaths, pictures and crafts were presented by: Mrs. Richard McPherson, Commercial Point; Mrs. Dennis Hutchins, Deer-creek; Mrs. Marie Gibson, Logan Elm; Mrs. Turney Pontious, Monrovia; Mrs. Clyde Michel, Solon; Mrs. Clyde Herron, Mrs. Georgia Hott and Mrs. Bernard Savey.

Following the drawing for door prizes a social hour was spent in the dining room. The tables were decorated in keeping with the holiday season and many articles were displayed on the craft table.

Church Must Raise Money For Taxes

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—The Taylor United Methodist Church here, with a congregation of about 200 Negroes, is apparently going to have to raise $2,000 to comply with state law regarding taxes.

The church lost a bid to have the 1st Ohio District Court of Appeals circumvent an Ohio Supreme Court ruling which upholds a law requiring applications for tax exemption to be filed before Jan. 1, 1969.

Salamander Ground Saved By Officials

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — Students, ecologists and government officials have rallied to save the last breeding pond of the rare Santa Cruz long-toed salamander.

An overflow crowd of 120 persons Tuesday heard the county Board of Supervisors vote 5 to 0 against a rezoning that would have allowed a developer to drain the pond eight miles south of here for a mobile home park.

Abraham Lincoln was the only president ever to undergo enemy gunfire. Lincoln faced Rebel bullets at Fort Stevens.

Swearing-In Ceremony Is Attended

Miss Mary Ellen Downs of Route 1, Orient and Miss Marty Dore of Columbus, formerly of Ashville, returned recently from a trip to Washington, D. C. where they attended the swearing-in ceremony on Nov. 29 of Judge Robert M. Duncan as a member of the United States Court of Military Appeals. Judge Duncan was formerly a Justice of the Supreme Court of Ohio where Miss Dore was his secretary.

Justice Potter Stewart of the United States Supreme Court administered the oath of office to Judge Duncan. Other officials attending were Secretary of Defense, Melvin Laird; Judges, William Darden, William Quinn and Homer Ferguson of the United States Court of Military Appeals, and a number of military officers representing the Department of Defense.

On Monday evening Miss Downs and Miss Dore attended a dinner honoring Judge and Mrs. Duncan. Hosted by The Sophisticate Club, the affair was held at the Centry Club in Washington.

Shower Fetes Mrs. Spradlin

Mrs. Ralph E. Young of 1041 Sunshine St., was hostess for a miscellaneous shower in her home recently honoring Mrs. Marvin Spradlin (Susan Lanman) of Mt. Sterling. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Kenneth Blue, Mrs. Robert Sampson and Mrs. Joseph Blue.

Games were played and the prizes awarded were presented to the bride.

Mrs. Spradlin opened her gifts from a table decorated in pale yellow, green and white.

Guests were Mrs. Mace Overly, Mrs. John West, Mrs. Richard Banks, Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. Jack E. Brooks, Mrs. Elmer Yeatts, Mrs. Gertrude Seymour, Mrs. James W. Dean and Michele, Mrs. Earl Lanman, Barbara Lanman, Mrs. Robert L. Woodward and Jacqueline Sampson.

Sending gifts were: Mrs. Robert Metzger, Mrs. Blenn Stevenson, Mrs. Paul Woodward, Mrs. Edward Strawser, Mrs. Donald Woodward, Mrs. John Stevenson, Mrs. Thurman Spradlin, Mrs. William Dietz, Cathy and Connie Miller.

Couple Plans To Marry In March

KAREN DEBRA WHITE

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene White, Route 2, Ashville, announced the engagement of their daughter, Karen Debra, to Johnny Gerald McCoy, son of Mrs. Mabel McCoy, Rush, Ky.

Miss White is a graduate of Teays Valley High School and is employed by the General Electric Lamp Plant in Circleville.

Mr. McCoy graduated from Boyd County High School in Ashland, Ky. and is employed by the Pfeiffer Printing Company of Columbus.

The wedding will take place March 4, 1972.

Mrs. Tammany Homemakers Club Speaker

Mrs. Fred Tammany was featured speaker Tuesday for the annual Extension Homemakers Christmas Meeting entitled "Christmas Is Everywhere." Mrs. Tammany explained Christmas customs in her native country, Hungary, then related experiences of living under Communist control in that country.

Approximately 150 women and children viewed the bazaar tables and displays provided by the Extension Homemakers Clubs. The Circleville Bible College Trio entertained the group with Christmas songs and Mrs. Penni Nielsen gave tips on relaxed entertaining for the holiday season. Mrs. Donna Beougher led the group in singing Christmas carols and Mrs. Doris Parsons distributed the door prizes.

The theme "Light, Love, Friendship" was explained by the newly installed worthy matron and Mrs. Pettit sang "Hymn Of Love" accompanied by Elaine Bowman.

Mrs. Riegel expressed appreciation to the following committees: registrations, Katherine Mead, Margaret Shane and Lida Ross; elevator and chairs, Ralph Beadle, Turney Ross and Joseph Peters; decorations, William Cook and Pauline Cook; refreshments, Roberta Webb.

Announcement was made that the next meeting will be 8 p.m., Dec. 14th followed with a Christmas Party. Members will exchange gifts.

A reception in the dining room followed the installation. Tables were decorated with arrangements of red roses and lighted tapers. The serving table was adorned with a centerpiece arrangement of Fuji mums and red roses. Presiding at the silver service were Carol Bowling and Marie L. Hamilton.

Junior past matron, Wilma Yeager and junior past patron, Raymond Yeager, were presented gifts from the chapter.

Refreshments were served during the social hour by the past matrons Circle with Mrs. Edna West as chairman. Mrs. Shasteen and Mrs. Geneva Kempton presided at the punch bowls.

OEA Opens Convention

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Education Association's 1200 delegates representing 90,000 members began a three-day session at Veterans Memorial Auditorium here Thursday with an election and a legislative program on the agenda.

The delegates will be presented a series of resolutions, including ones on school finance, desegregation and teacher protection.

Some reaction of delegates to the stymied budget-tax measure in the Ohio General Assembly is expected during the sessions. Earlier the association had criticized legislators for inaction. The group has met in emergency session two times previously this year.

Richard High, a Mansfield classroom teacher, and Donald Traxler, assistant professor of education at Ohio Northern University, are candidates for the office of president-elect.

Garden Club Council Holds Holiday Event

Council of Pickaway County Garden Clubs held its annual holiday program and tea in the Commercial Point United Methodist Church recently. Commercial Point Garden Club members were hostesses for the event.

Mrs. Bernard Savey, president, presided over the meeting and welcomed members and their guests. Mrs. Marie Gibson, program chairman, introduced Carl Wetherell pastor of the church, who led in prayer and meditation.

The "Share And Tell" program was presented by members of each garden club. Holiday arrangements, wreaths, pictures and crafts were presented by: Mrs. Richard McPherson, Commercial Point; Mrs. Dennis Hutchins, Deer creek; Mrs. Marie Gibson, Logan Elm; Mrs. Turney Pontious, Monrovia; Mrs. Clyde Michel, Soliqua; Mrs. Clyde Herron, Mrs. Georgia Hott and Mrs. Bernard Savey.

Following the drawing for door prizes a social hour was spent in the dining room. The tables were decorated in keeping with the holiday season and many articles were displayed on the craft table.

Church Must Raise Money For Taxes

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—The Taylor United Methodist Church here, with a congregation of about 200 Negroes, is apparently going to have to raise $2,000 to comply with state law regarding taxes.

The church lost a bid to have the 1st Ohio District Court of Appeals circumvent an Ohio Supreme Court ruling which upholds a law requiring applications for tax exemption to be filed before Jan. 1, 1969.

Salamander Ground Saved By Officials

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — Students, ecologists and government officials have rallied to save the last breeding pond of the rare Santa Cruz long-toed salamander.

An overflow crowd of 120 persons Tuesday heard the county Board of Supervisors vote 5 to 0 against a rezoning that would have allowed a developer to drain the pond eight miles south of here for a mobile home park.

Abraham Lincoln was the only president ever to undergo enemy gunfire. Lincoln faced Rebel bullets at Fort Stevens.

Austerity Layoffs Start In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The first of an expected wave of layoffs notices went out Wednesday to 32 finance department workers in the city of Cleveland.

Finance Director Andrew Putka said he notified the men that they would be furloughed Dec. 17. He said he notified the men that they would be furloughed Dec. 17. He said the trimming would cut his staff by 21 per cent from 230 workers to 198 and that the city would save about $275,000 annually.

Putka's announcement came one day after Mayor Ralph Perk announced that the salaries of all city hall executives and department heads would be cut 10 per cent in an effort to offset an expected $27 million year-end deficit.

More layoffs, involving up to 1,000 employees, can be expected, said Perk, once reports are received today from cabinet members on how to cut costs by 20 per cent in each of the city departments and how to effect the layoffs.

Putka said those furloughed can move into other civil service jobs they are qualified for, provided they have enough seniority to bump someone else.

Highest paid employee laid off was Thomas Farnsworth, a budget analyst hired three years ago by Mayor Carl Stokes at a salary of $14,880.

U.S. Deaths In Vietnam Remain Low

SAIGON (AP) — The total of American battlefield deaths continued at a low level last week, while South Vietnamese combat losses increased sharply, the allied commands reported today.

U.S. headquarters said nine American servicemen lost their lives due to enemy action. It was the eighth straight week of less than 10 combat deaths.

The headquarters reported 78 U.S. troops wounded last week, a steep increase over the four reported the week before. It said there were seven deaths from accidents and illness last week, about half the deaths from nonhostile causes the previous week. This did not include 33 Americans missing since Sunday in a helicopter that disappeared near Da Nang in bad weather.

The South Vietnamese command reported 439 government troops killed and 645 wounded last week, well above the previous week's 276 killed and 514 wounded. The allied commands claimed 1,331 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed last week, compared with 1,024 a week earlier.

The allied commands now have reported these total casualties for the war:

American—45,613 killed in action, 302,283 wounded, 9,954 dead from nonhostile causes.

South Vietnamese—136,411 killed, 295,153 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—784,762 killed.

The U.S. Command also announced another reduction of 3,050 troops from the U.S. force in Vietnam, the biggest single slash in two months. The command said the cuts included the 920-man 1st Battalion, 506th Infantry, of the 101st Airborne Division, the last remaining U.S. combat division in Vietnam.

RIPLEY, Ohio (AP) — The price of 100 pound baskets of tobacco continues to increase at the Ripley Tobacco Market, despite a pickup in deliveries.

The hundredweight price jumped to $79.54 Wednesday as 307,458 pounds of leaf were sold for $244,553.65. It marked the seventh consecutive day of sales that the price has risen.

Light deliveries have been cited as one reason for the increasing price, but deliveries began to pick up Wednesday. Some trucks were even waiting to be unloaded.

U.S. Hints At Retaliation If MIGs Attack Warplanes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials say American war planes may retaliate against North Vietnamese air bases if Communist MIG fighters attack U.S. planes flying air strikes over the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos.

The hint came Wednesday from Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim who reported the North Vietnamese may be preparing to threaten U.S. B-52 bombers and other aircraft attacking the enemy infiltration routes leading into South Vietnam from Laos.

Friedheim said there have been 10 separate instances over the last two months in which MIG 19 and MIG 21 jet fighters flew briefly into Laos, occasionally firing air-to-air missiles.

No U.S. planes were hit and there was some doubt as to what the North Vietnamese were up to, Friedheim told newsmen, adding:

"We certainly couldn't be surprised if they have in mind here developing a capability to threaten aircraft" bombing and strafing the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Asked if the U.S. would bomb North Vietnamese airfields if American aircraft were attacked, Friedheim replied, positions at Vinh and two other North Vietnamese airfields, Quang Lang, 48 miles north of Vinh, and at Dong Hoi, about 40 miles north of the DMZ where the U.S. command said the enemy guns fired at unarmed American reconnaissance planes.

Sources said the attack at Dong Hoi left runways pockmarked with bomb craters.

The only time a U.S. aircraft was shot down over Laos by a North Vietnamese MIG was in January 1970. That was a helicopter on a search and rescue mission.

Boys And Girls In Service

Air Force Sgt. John C. Davis received commendation from his base commander in a letter to his parents, Mrs. Robert M. Barnes, 578 E. Main St., and Charles W. Davis, Route 4.

The letter reads: "I enjoy writing to the parents of my non-commissioned officers, especially when they are as fine as your son John, who fills a vital position in the defense of our country."

We have just had a most difficult inspection by higher headquarters, and it was, in a large part, due to your son's efforts and professionalism that our organization received numerous outstanding ratings in all inspection areas. Your son is an asset to the U.S. Air Force, to this unit and to the accomplishment of our mission. John has done an outstanding job, and I am sure that you are extremely proud of him. His exemplary bearing and behavior reflect credit upon those who have molded him into an extremely fine man. Congratulations."

Sgt. Davis is assigned to Detachment 4, 425th Munitions Maintenance Squadron, Chatham, Canada.

He lives in Chatham with his wife Debbie at 58 Henderson St.

Army Private David M. Thornton, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton, 530 Greenacre Court, Circleville, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Armor, Ft. Knox, Ky.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and army history and traditions.

Army Private James A. Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Payne, Route 1, Ashville, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Armor, Ft. Knox, Ky.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and army history and traditions.

John Carl Stant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Stant, Route 1, Kingston, recently enlisted in the United States Air Force.

John is presently assigned to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas where he is under going Basic Training. Upon completion of basic training he will be assigned to Security Specialist duties.

Sneek-A-Peek

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Christmas books for boys and girls have been placed on a seven-day loan period. This will rotate the seasonal materials to give them wider circulation. If you don't find the exact title you wish, check back in a week or so, and others will have been returned to the shelf.

For convenience, the holiday books are on a special rack near the desk in the Sneek-a-Peek room. Each borrower is limited to two Christmas books per loan period.

All the old favorites are there, including "The Night Before Christmas" in various formats and "The Birds Christmas" and Dicken's "Christmas Carol."

Also, there are titles recently published which add a new note to the traditional holiday literature.

Rebecca Caudill, one of the most highly respected of today's juvenile authors, wrote "A Certain Small Shepherd" in 1965. Already it is a classic. Jamie, portrayed with sensitivity, lived in Hurricane Gap. His family were superstitious hill folk, the kind of people who are Miss Caudill's best subjects. William Pene Du Bois illustrated the story with fine color prints which convey the exact one of the lovely tale.

For a long time, readers of women's magazines have delighted in the poetry of Phyllis McGinley. Some of it is droll, some is poignant. "A Wreath of Christmas Legends" is frankly sentimental. Many of the poems center on little-known legends from foreign lands. All of them are good for reading aloud.

"The Mole Family's Christmas" done by the husband-and-wife team of Lillian and Russell Hoban show the near-sighted moles groping their way to a unique celebration.

More format in its view-point is "The Christmas Sky" by Franklin M. Branley. Branley is an astronomer. His presentation is ably illustrated by Blair Lent.

"Christmas Everywhere" tells about customs of many lands. It is a good reference book for boys and girls who show curiosity about other parts of the world. It was written and compiled by Elizabeth Hough Sechrist.

Still popular after thirty years is "Sleigh Bells for Windy Foat" by Frances Frost. There is a new replacement copy of this favorite now available.

Iran Occupies Strategic Isles

BEIRUT (AP) — Iraq said today that it is breaking diplomatic relations with Britain and Iran, holding them equally responsible for Iranian occupation of three small, strategic islands in the Persian Gulf.

The Iraqi government charged that Iran, "acting in collusion with Britain," had "committed an outrageous aggression against the Arab state by landing troops Tuesday on the islands of Abu Musa, Greater Tums and Lesser Tums."

The statement broadcast by a Baghdad Radio called on all Arab governments to break ties with Britain and Iran.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

His Wife's Phone Calls Are Frightening

DEAR ABBY: I have been a lonely divorcee for nearly three years. I'm 45. Several months ago I met an attractive 50-year-old man who was (and still is) separated from his wife. This gentleman and I have been constant companions ever since our meeting which is the nicest thing that has happened to me in a very long time.

Several weeks ago his wife started phoning me at all hours of the night. At first I was patient because I felt sorry for her. But now her calls have become frightening.

I have left my receiver off the hook for hours, but still the calls continue. I spoke to my companion about this, and he has spoken to her, but to no avail.

I don't want to get an unlisted

number as I have friends all over the country who call me and come to town occasionally, and these calls are important to me.

My companion says his wife is emotionally disturbed, and I believe she is. What's the answer? Should I put up with her calls until she quits? Must I stop seeing my gentleman friend? Or should I take legal action to stop the harassment?

NEEDS ADVICE
DEAR ABBY: Don't take any legal action unless you are positive that both you and your constant companion are not vulnerable to some legal action from his wife. Until a man is divorced, he is married, you know, which places you in the position of cavorting with a married man.

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy, 15, and a high school sophomore. Recently we had school elections and I was nominated for vice president of my class and I am wondering about the following situation:

Is it snobbish to vote for yourself in any kind of election? I'm not speaking only of the secret ballot when nobody else will know for whom you have voted, but in open elections when the voters raise their hands to cast their votes. I did this the other day (voted for myself in an open election), and now I feel terrible because I'm afraid some of the kids will think I am stuck up.

I would like your opinion on this.

DAVID
DEAR DAVID: The Rabbi Hellel said: "If I am not for myself, who will be for me?" The rabbi was right on!

DEAR ABBY: I am 41 and am getting married for the first time. My fiancée is 49 and has outlived two wives. My problem is what kind of wedding to have. I have always dreamed of having a big church wedding with a white gown and veil, bridesmaids and all the frills, but I am afraid that some of my friends and relatives would consider this bad taste.

I want my wedding to be perfect, but I care a great deal about what people say. My fiancée is agreeable to anything I decide. I can well afford to have a large, church wedding, but I am wondering if perhaps a smaller, more quiet wedding wouldn't be in better taste? What do you think?

UNDECIDED IN BOSTON
DEAR UNDECIDED: A large church wedding would not be in "bad taste" since this is your first. But since you have misgivings, I think you'd be happier with a smaller, more quiet one.

PROCLAMATION
NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION
The Board of Elections of Pickaway County, Ohio, issues this Proclamation and Notice of Election.

A SPECIAL ELECTION WILL BE HELD ON
Tuesday, the 14th day of December, 1971 at the usual places of holding elections in Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School District or at such places as the Board may designate, for the purpose of determining the question of levying an additional tax for the benefit of the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School District for the purpose of providing for current expenses at the rate not exceeding one and seventy hundredths (1.70 mills) mills for each one dollar of valuation which amounts to seventeen cents (17 cents) each year for each $100 of valuation for a continuing period of time. Said levy will be placed upon the tax lists of the duplicate year next succeeding the election.

The Polls for the Election will open at 6:30 o'clock A.M. and remain open until 6:30 o'clock P.M. (E.S.T.) of said day.
By Order of the Board of Elections, Pickaway County, Ohio
William A. Stout
Chairman

Attest: Nancy L. Ayers, Director
Dated December 2, 1971

At their Nov. 30 meeting, President Ruth Porter announced that Bev Parker would receive the $5 prize for selling the most orders of cookies for the bake sale. Members also elected chapter mothers. They are: Mrs. Robert Allen, Mrs. Joe Porter, Mrs. Carl Adkins, Mrs. George Hyme.

Last week, FHA members collected for Muscular Dystrophy.

After the meeting was adjourned, the girls gathered to bake cookies for the bake sale.

KSU Trials Suspended To Monday

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—Trials of the Kent 25 were suspended until next week after the third defendant scheduled to be tried pleaded guilty in Portage County Common Pleas Court Wednesday to a charge of first-degree riot.

The plea was entered by Larry Shub, 20, of Cleveland Heights, a student at Kent State University when disturbances raked the campus in May, 1970.

The state said it would recommend that Judge Edwin Jones dismiss charges against Shub of second-degree riot and attempting to burn an equipment shed near a campus tennis court.

Sentencing of Shub was delayed pending a probation report and he was released on $4,000 bond. He faces a possible 1-to-3 years in jail.

He entered the guilty plea as preparations were under way to select a jury for his trial. Charges against him stemmed from the burning of an ROTC building on the KSU campus May 2, 1970.

The disorders ended two days later after four students were shot to death and nine were wounded by Ohio National Guardsmen in a confrontation with rock-throwing antiwar demonstrators.

In another development Wednesday, attorneys for 10 of the 25 persons indicted by a special state grand jury that investigated the disorders filed an affidavit of prejudice against Judge Albert Caris.

Amanda Clearcreek FHA Holds Sale

Amanda Clearcreek FHA Chapter recently held a pre-order bake sale of cookies as a money making project.

At their Nov. 30 meeting, President Ruth Porter announced that Bev Parker would receive the $5 prize for selling the most orders of cookies for the bake sale. Members also elected chapter mothers. They are: Mrs. Robert Allen, Mrs. Joe Porter, Mrs. Carl Adkins, Mrs. George Hyme.

Ohio Transportation Setup Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. John Gilligan's Task Force on Transportation is considering the concept of a Transportation Department of Ohio, but not in a formally structured manner, a spokesman said Wednesday.

"We don't mean a building with a sign on it and a big, full-time staff," said the spokesman, who asked not to be named.

"It would be a symbol for coordinating a master plan for all transportation systems in Ohio. We have decided we need that."

A planning consultants' recommendation that a state Transportation Department be created was discussed at a task force meeting Wednesday.

The firm proposed that the new department take over duties of the departments of Highways and Highway Safety, and the Division of Aviation and some of the duties of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

During the meeting, the 61-member task force, headed by

Thomas Conlan of Cincinnati, received reports from a finance subcommittee and the Inter-governmental Relationship Committee without comment.

Members are to respond to the reports by mail to Conlan by Dec. 18. The task force will hold its final meeting Jan. 5 to submit its report to Gilligan.

The finance subcommittee suggested higher fuel taxes and vehicle registration fees as possible ways to finance state and local highway programs.

It called for additional revenue to finance highway construction and debt retirement and, at the local level, to help county, township and municipal governments meet highway maintenance and other local costs.

Financing transportation other than highways, the subcommittee said, should be provided for in the general fund by the Legislature.

The subcommittee reached no decision on bond funding, saying this should be a legislative decision.

The report said relying on ad valorem taxes on personal property is not a feasible manner of financing transportation. It recognized that $1 motor vehicle title transfer tax as a possible source of revenue, but said "such a tax is incompatible with the present purpose of the fee."

Higher aviation fuel taxes also were not favored on the grounds that airlines would go elsewhere to buy fuel, but the report said registration fees for private airplanes, which produced $66,000 this year, were a source of revenue.

Administration funding could come from budget allocations made to existing state departments and divisions being considered for consolidation, the subcommittee said.

"The only significant area not covered by existing departments," it noted, "is that of planning for mass transit systems."

The subcommittee suggested that the Highway Department take over maintenance of state park roads, and that money now allowed the Department of Natural Resources for that purpose be used for transportation planning.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

His Wife's Phone Calls Are Frightening

DEAR ABBY: I have been a lonely divorcee for nearly three years. I'm 45. Several months ago I met an attractive 50-year-old man who was (and still is) separated from his wife. This gentleman and I have been constant companions ever since our meeting which is the nicest thing that has happened to me in a very long time.

Several weeks ago his wife started phoning me at all hours of the night. At first I was patient because I felt sorry for her. But now her calls have become frightening.

I have left my receiver off the hook for hours, but still the calls continue. I spoke to my companion about this, and he has spoken to her, but to no avail.

I don't want to get an unlisted

number as I have friends all over the country who call me and come to town occasionally, and these calls are important to me.

My companion says his wife is emotionally disturbed, and I believe she is. What's the answer? Should I put up with her calls until she quits? Must I stop seeing my gentleman friend? Or should I take legal action to stop the harassment?

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: Don't take any legal action unless you are positive that both you and your constant companion are not vulnerable to some legal action from his wife. Until a man is divorced, he is married, you know, which places you in the position of cohabiting with a married man.

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy, 15, and a high school sophomore. Recently we had school elections and I was nominated for vice president of my class and I am wondering about the following situation:

Is it snobbish to vote for yourself in any kind of election? I'm not speaking only of the secret ballot when nobody else will know for whom you have voted, but in open elections when the voters raise their hands to cast their votes. I did this the other day (voted for myself in an open election), and now I feel terrible because I'm afraid some of the kids will think I am stuck up.

I would like your opinion on this.

DEAR DAVID: The Rabbi Hellel said: "If I am not for myself, who will be for me?" The rabbi was right on!

DEAR ABBY: I am 41 and am getting married for the first time. My fiancée is 49 and has outlived two wives. My problem is what kind of wedding to have.

I have always dreamed of having a big church wedding with a white gown and veil, bridesmaids and all the frills, but I am afraid that some of my friends and relatives would consider this bad taste.

I want my wedding to be perfect, but I care a great deal about what people say.

My fiancée is agreeable to anything I decide. I can well afford to have a large, church wedding, but I am wondering if perhaps a smaller, more quiet wedding wouldn't be in better taste? What do you think?

UNDECIDED IN BOSTON
DEAR UNDECIDED: A large church wedding would not be in "bad taste" since this is your first. But since you have misgivings, I think you'd be happier with a smaller, more quiet one.

PROCLAMATION NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION

The Board of Elections of Pickaway County, Ohio, issues this Proclamation and Notice of Election.

A SPECIAL ELECTION WILL BE HELD ON
Tuesday, the 14th day of December, 1971 at the usual places of holding elections in Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School District or at such places as the Board may designate, for the purpose of determining the question of levying an additional tax for the benefit of the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School District for the purpose of providing for current expenses at the rate not exceeding one and seventy hundredths (1.70 mills) for each one dollar of valuation for a continuing period of time. Said levy will be placed upon the tax lists of the duplicate year next succeeding the election.

The Polls for the Election will open at 6:30 o'clock A.M. and remain open until 6:30 o'clock P.M. (E.S.T.) of said day.
By Order of the Board of Elections, Pickaway County, Ohio
William A. Stout
Chairman
Attest: Nancy L. Ayers, Director

Ohio Transportation Setup Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan's Task Force on Transportation is considering the concept of a Transportation Department of Ohio, but not in a formally structured manner, a spokesman said Wednesday.

"We don't mean a building with a sign on it and a big, full-time staff," said the spokesman, who asked not to be named.

"It would be a symbol for coordinating a master plan for all transportation systems in Ohio. We have decided we need that."

A planning consultants' recommendation that a state Transportation Department be created was discussed at a task force meeting Wednesday.

The firm proposed that the new department take over duties of the departments of Highways and Highway Safety, and the Division of Aviation and some of the duties of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

During the meeting, the 61-member task force, headed by

Thomas Conlan of Cincinnati, received reports from a finance subcommittee and the Inter-governmental Relationship Committee without comment.

Members are to respond to the reports by mail to Conlan by Dec. 18. The task force will hold its final meeting Jan. 5 to submit its report to Gilligan.

The finance subcommittee suggested higher fuel taxes and vehicle registration fees as possible ways to finance state and local highway programs.

It called for additional revenue to finance highway construction and debt retirement and, at the local level, to help county, township and municipal governments meet highway maintenance and other local costs.

Financing transportation other than highways, the subcommittee said, should be provided for in the general fund by the Legislature.

The subcommittee reached no decision on bond funding, saying this should be a legislative decision.

The report said relying on ad valorem taxes on personal property is not a feasible manner of financing transportation.

It recognized that $1 motor vehicle title transfer tax as a possible source of revenue, but said "such a tax is incompatible with the present purpose of the fee."

Higher aviation fuel taxes also were not favored on the grounds that airlines would go elsewhere to buy fuel, but the report said registration fees for private airplanes, which produced $66,000 this year, were a source of revenue.

Administration funding could come from budget allocations made to existing state departments and divisions being considered for consolidation, the subcommittee said.

"The only significant area not covered by existing departments," it noted, "is that of planning for mass transit systems."

The subcommittee suggested that the Highway Department take over maintenance of state park roads, and that money now allowed the Department of Natural Resources for that purpose be used for transportation planning.

Prosecutor Still Sought

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Brown County Sheriff William Utter has been sued and has no one to represent him.

The problem is the latest to arise in this Southwestern Ohio county because it has not had a prosecutor since Oct. 18 when Republican Angus Wilson resigned.

Utter and Frank Grayson Sr. of Tollesboro, Ky., were named defendants in the suit which claims that personal property of a woman from nearby Bethany was unlawfully attached.

The Republican Central Committee of Brown County continues to seek a replacement for Wilson. No Democratic attorney will accept an interim appointment by the Democratic controlled County Commission, because he would be ousted as soon as the central committee selects someone.

No criminal cases can be prosecuted in the county and no grand jury can be called.

More Threats Are Received By Legislators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Highway Patrol is investigating assassination threats against two more state legislators.

Letters identical to ones that went earlier to three other lawmakers were received Wednesday by House Speaker Charles Kurfess, R-4 Perrysburg, and Senate Minority Leader Anthony Calabrese, D-23 Cleveland.

The letters are hand-printed complaints about taxes. All bore a Cleveland postmark.

Receiving letters previously were Sens. Clara Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton; Paul Matia, R-25 Lakewood, and William Taft, R-26 Cleveland.

Letters To Santa

Dear Santa Claus,
My sister is writing this letter because I am too small. I'm only 4 years old. I would like a snare drum, battery-operated dune buggy, play school, Mattel-O-Phone and a juke box.

Sincerely yours,
Phillip Plum
Route 2, Ashville

P.S. I'll leave some milk and cookies for you. I'll leave some sugar for the reindeers.

Dear Santa Claus,
How have you been this past year? Hope you and your reindeer are all ready for this year's Christmas. Did you know that I saw you in your sleigh streaking across the sky last Christmas when I was on my way home from my Grandpa's.

I have a new brother and he is 8 months old and we both have been good boys. Would you please bring Eddie some match-box cars, clothes, a ball, a little pull-toy and anything else you think he may need. I would like to have a Golden Gate race track, SSP demolition derby set, Snoopy model car, a red, white and blue cement mixer, clothes, a couple of sizzler cars, steam roller. Don't forget any of the other boys and girls all over the world.

We'll leave you cookies and milk for a snack. Hope you and Mrs. Claus and all your helpers and reindeers have a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. Thank you for all the things you brought me last year.

Merry Christmas
Lee and Eddie Griffith

Letters
To Santa

Dear Santa Claus,
My sister is witing this letter because I am too small. I'm only 4 years old. I would like a snare drum, battery-operated dune buggy, play school, Mattel-O-Phone and a juke box.
Sincerely yours,
Phillip Plum
Route 2, Ashville
P.S. I'll leave some milk and cookies for you. I'll leave some sugar for the reindeers.

Dear Santa Claus,
How have you been this past year? Hope you and your reindeer are all ready for this year's Christmas. Did you know that I saw you in your sleigh streaking across the sky last Christmas when I was on my way home from my Grandpa's.
I have a new brother and he is 8 months old and we both have been good boys. Would you please bring Eddie some matchbox cars, clothes, a ball, a little pull toy and anything else you think he may need. I would like to have a Golden Gate race track, SSP demolition derby set, Snoopy model car, a red, white and blue cement mixer, clothes, a couple of sizzler cars, steam roller. Don't forget any of the other boys and girls all over the world.
We'll leave you cookies and milk for a snack. Hope you and Mrs. Claus and all your helpers and reindeers have a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. Thank you for all the things you brought me last year.
Merry Christmas—
Lee and Eddie Griffith

FRIDAY'S HOROSCOPE
GENERAL TENDENCIES:
You are apt to have very poor judgment today and tonight and so do not make important decisions to get emotionally involved in anything. If you do, difficult conditions can follow. Play whatever game you are engaged in absolutely straight.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You had better use a good deal of tact at home and avoid arguments there that could be quite serious. Try to clear up questionable points diplomatically. Let the evening be a happy one through your efforts.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Taking particular care on the road is important, as is listening to ideas which associates give you. Try not to make any controversial remarks that could lead to arguments. Retire early in p.m.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Think very carefully before you commit yourself to any big or small monetary obligations. Concentrate on how to improve your present position. Show you have wisdom and tact.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get rid of that martyr complex quickly or you can make yourself miserable. Think about doing something constructive concerning finances. You can entertain

Administration Sets Street Crime Fight
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is preparing to put $160 million into "high-impact" programs in eight medium-size cities as the first step in a plan to cut violent street crime and burglary by 20 per cent in the next five years.
Justice Department officials said Monday the eight cities will be selected from among those in the nation with populations between 250,000 and one million on the basis of how bad their crime problems are.

Coal Companies Hit By Price Curb
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission, in its first coal industry ruling, said Wednesday coal companies can pass to consumers only 60 per cent of their recent large wage increases.
The decision left the coal industry between the Pay Board, which approved a 15 per cent wage increase for miners, and the Price Commission, which said only a 9.6 per cent wage boost can be converted to higher prices.

Crime Funds Approved
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $57,500 federal grant under the Omnibus Crime Control Act has been approved by Gov. John J. Gilligan for the Northeast Ohio Area-wide Coordinating Agency for two projects to be administered by Cleveland State University.

Armstrong Splits Teaching, Research In UC Position

By BILL VALE
Associated Press Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — The first man to walk on the moon, former Astronaut Neil Armstrong, said today his time at the University of Cincinnati is "balanced between the students and research."
Armstrong, a native of Wapakoneta, Ohio, declined to name the research projects he was currently interested in "because it will come back at me later if they are not completed."
As professor of aeronautical engineering, he said his research was in the area of transportation for both space and air. He said his work would be predominantly technical rather than practical.
It was Armstrong's first news conference since joining the university this autumn. He said he declined previous requests for interviews because he needed all his time for teaching, research and setting up a curriculum.
Armstrong said in response to a question "there is no technical reason to prevent manned space flights to Mars."
"What is needed is the will, the resources, and the justification," he said.
He said, "I am a pilot, not a prophet."
Armstrong said he did not mean to imply he was selling the space program. "Marketing is not my field," he said, "I neither understand nor enjoy it."

Commissioners Name Leaders For New Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The County Commissioners Association of Ohio Wednesday elected Allen County Commissioner Richard Thompson of Delphos as its president. He succeeds Carl Mauntel of Portsmouth.
Hugh Corrigan of Cleveland was elected first vice president and Robert South of Lebanon, second vice president.
The County Engineers Association, meeting in conjunction with the commissioners, named David Weir of Ashtabula County as its president, succeeding Stanley Markey of Warren County.
Max Rothschild of Bowling Green was elected first vice president and John Papcun of Port Clinton, second vice president.

Albuquerque Man Charged In Skyjack
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — An Albuquerque man has been charged with hiding three men who allegedly killed a state policeman and later escaped by hijacking a plane to Cuba.
Johnny Earl Vines, 29, was jailed in lieu of $2,500 bond after his arraignment Tuesday before U.S. Magistrate Robert McCoy.

He said his decision to leave NASA was a combination of many reasons. He said all future space flights were programmed and the crews assigned.
Had he remained, he said, he might have been assigned to another flight "sometime in my late 50s."
Armstrong, who had taught at Purdue University, said he was no stranger to the classroom. He said he chose the university at a time of life when he could still do so and work in a profession "that I liked and admired."

FRIDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are apt to have very poor judgment today and tonight and so do not make important decisions to get emotionally involved in anything. If you do, difficult conditions can follow. Play whatever game you are engaged in absolutely straight.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You had better use a good deal of tact at home and avoid arguments there that could be quite serious. Try to clear up questionable points diplomatically. Let the evening be a happy one through your efforts.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Taking particular care on the road is important, as is listening to ideas which associates give you. Try not to make any controversial remarks that could lead to arguments. Retire early in p.m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Think very carefully before you commit yourself to any big or small monetary obligations. Concentrate on how to improve your present position. Show you have wisdom and tact.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get rid of that martyr complex quickly or you can make yourself miserable. Think about doing something constructive concerning finances. You can entertain others with good results now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You had better get busy with all those small tasks that have to be done sometime, so stop procrastinating about them. Know how to please one who means much to you. Add to present happiness.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) This is not the right day to discuss that new project with friends, but excellent for making plans for same. Group meetings could react adversely now. Postpone to a better day or p.m.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have some new arrangement with a powerful person, but you need to use tact so you do not lose some of the favor you have so laboriously gained. Make sure to pay bills, or credit rating could suffer. Keep sober.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You had better investigate details of any ideas that occur to you before putting them in operation, or you could have trouble. Listen to suggestions of new comers. Don't jump into anything yet, though.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Now that you know just what your obligations are, get busy and discharge them as quickly as you can. Clear the decks for new interests ahead. Don't be so direct in dealing with mate. Put a little mystery into your life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show associates you will gladly go ahead with an agreement you have committed yourself to. Steer clear of one who opposes you and avoid arguments. A happy evening with the family is in the cards.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have many tasks ahead of you so do not involve yourself in whatever is unimportant and waste time. Use more modern inventions to make routines easier and more efficient. Save more money, too.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have too much to do to waste time on whatever is of a frivolous nature. Don't do any expensive entertaining either just now. Await a better time for this sort of thing. Think and work.

Administration Sets Street Crime Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is preparing to put $160 million into "high-impact" programs in eight medium-size cities as the first step in a plan to cut violent street crime and burglary by 20 per cent in the next five years.

Justice Department officials said Monday the eight cities will be selected from among those in the nation with populations between 250,000 and one million on the basis of how bad their crime problems are.

Coal Companies Hit By Price Curb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission, in its first coal industry ruling, said Wednesday coal companies can pass to consumers only 60 per cent of their recent large wage increases.

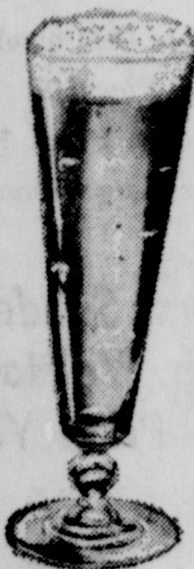

The decision left the coal industry between the Pay Board, which approved a 15 per cent wage increase for miners, and the Price Commission, which said only a 9.6 per cent wage boost can be converted to higher prices.

Crime Funds Approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $57,500 federal grant under the Omnibus Crime Control Act has been approved by Gov. John J. Gilligan for the Northeast Ohio Area-wide Coordinating Agency for two projects to be administered by Cleveland State University.

All-Ohio Class AA Selections Announced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State champion Steubenville Catholic and third-ranked Cleveland Holy Name each placed two players on The Associated Press Class AA All-Ohio high school football first team today.

Steubenville Catholic, which ran away with the state's Class AA mythical championship, landed running back Mike Mehalik and middle guard Dave Moitis, the heart of the champs' rugged defense.

Four area gridders received added recognition in the Ohio Class AA All-State selections.

Mark Davey and Mike Hamrick of Circleville and Jack Brinker and Terry McDaniel of Teays Valley were all given honorable mention on the star studded squad.

Cleveland Holy Name was represented by running back Ray Ressler and Jim Polak, an imposing defensive tackle.

Ressler, a 5-10, 180-pound senior who was the heart of Holy Name's attack, was named the Class AA back of the year.

Lineman of the year honors went to huge Walt Vrabel, a defensive end from Campbell Memorial who was second team all-state a year ago. Vrabel, 6-4, 250 pounds and a senior, heads the big, tough first defensive unit.

Kim Girkins, 6-3, 190-pound all-sports star at Granville, won the quarterbacking job in a close battle with Hal Spears of Ironton.

Girkins, a basketball regular and good enough as a baseball pitcher and shortstop to attract scouts, completed 97 of 180 passes for 1,480 yards. A regular safety, the senior also intercepted three passes.

Among the first team defensive selections was linebacker Scott Bowers of Hartsville Lake, a brother of 1970 Class AA state back of the year Brian Bowers.

There were no first team repeaters from the all-state squad of last year since the 1970 selections were all seniors.

The three offensive and defensive teams were selected on the basis of recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

OSU Tops Georgia Tech, But Taylor Not Too Happy

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fred Taylor wasn't enamored at the way his fifth-ranked Ohio State basketball team opened the season with a 63-55 victory at Georgia Tech Wednesday night.

"It looked like we expected things to happen instead of making them happen ourselves," said the coach of the defending Big Ten champions.

"As big as we are, we should have more rebounds than that," added Taylor.

Luke Witte, a 7-foot junior, pulled down 13 rebounds to give the much taller Buckeyes a 40-30 edge on the boards and scored 20 points to lead the attack.

Dan Gerhard, filling in for the injured Allan Hornyak, contributed 16 points and his play with fellow guard Dave Merchant pleased Taylor.

"I was pleased with our defense and the overall play of our guards," said Taylor, who is preparing his team for its home opener Saturday night with Oregon.

In the first heavy night of the Ohio college season, Mid-American favorite Miami clicked for a 101-68 walloping of Marietta behind sophomore guard Phil Lumpkin's 20 points. The Dayton newcomer hit his first six floor shots.

Kent State outscored Purdue from the field, 30 to 26 goals, but the Boilermakers hit 30 free throws to the Flames' 15 to triumph 82-75. Ruben Vance of Kent took game scoring honors with 26, three more than Bob Ford of the Boilermakers.

Cincinnati took advantage of 35 Cleveland State turnovers and trimmed the Vikings 93-68 behind sophomore Lloyd Batts' 26 points.

Ohio University, expected to be Miami's stiffest Mid-American competition, slipped by Muskingum 76-66 despite 37 per cent floor shooting. Bob Howell led a balanced Bobcat attack with 15 points. Gene Ford and John Pearson had 16 apiece for the Muskies.

Donald Smith, a teammate of Lumpkin's at Dayton Roth High School, counted 22 points in Dayton's 87-78 decision over Bowling Green.

The Flyers outscored the Falcons 14-2 in one first half stretch to hand new Bowling Green mentor Pat Haley, a former Dayton assistant, a loss in his debut.

Toledo outscored Eastern Michigan 14-9 in overtime for an 87-82 victory after trailing at halftime 46-33. Tom Kozelko, the lone returning Rocket regular, poured in 27 points while 6-7 sophomore George Gervin had 26 for the visitors.

Xavier fell 75-57 to the explosive, 14th-ranked Kansas team. The Musketeers stayed in contention through much of the first period until Kansas went on a 12-point scoring spurge to take a 37-20 halftime lead.

Xavier put on a mild threat midway through the second half, mostly on the efforts of Bob Fullerton, who had a game-high 23 points, but Kansas opened the gap again and maintained a 20-point lead the rest of the way out.

Defending Ohio Conference champion Capital overwhelmed Lockbourne Air Force Base 137-66 behind the 25-point performance of junior guard Scott Weakley. The 137 points was a school record.

Paced by junior forward Leonard Paul with 24 points, Akron whipped Malone 81-69.

Previously defense-minded Ashland exhibited a potent offense under new coach Jerry Walke in rolling over Walsh 99-78.

Other games: Wooster 82, Heidelberg 68; Baldwin-Wallace 76, John Carroll 70, Indiana Central 62, Wittenberg 59; Oberlin 96, Case Western Reserve 84; West Liberty State, W. Va. 75, Steubenville 71; Grove City, Pa. 91, Mount Union 82; Defiance 109, Adrian, Mich. 71; Ohio Northern 91, Bluffton 84; Wright-Patterson AFB 72, Wilberforce 70; Denison 76, Bethany, W. Va. 69; Findlay 87, Northern Kentucky State 81.

Don Gullett Selected Outstanding Pitcher
CINCINNATI (AP)—Twenty-year-old Don Gullett, who compiled a 16-6 mark this year, has been selected by the Cincinnati Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association as the "Outstanding Pitcher of 1971" of the Cincinnati Reds.

Gullett, only two years out of high school, started 31 games and relieved in four others, and posted an earned run average of 2.64.

CHS Opens SCO Action At Trace

Circleville opens the defense of its South Central Ohio League title Friday night when the Tigers travel to Miami Trace to meet the Panthers.

Although the Panthers have not shown too much this season they have the guns and are always at their best when they meet Circleville.

The Tigers will have their work cut out for them if they are going to repeat as league champions and can't afford to relax for one minute.

Balance in the league will make it tough for the Tigers with Greenfield, Wilmington and Hillsboro all sending strong units into action.

SOME experience and a good crop of reserves from last years fine squad will form the nucleus of this year's Miami Trace team.

The Jones boys are back along with senior guard Kenny Goodson, Jack Reno and a fine guard from last year's reserves, Glen Gifford.

The Tigers have looked good in their first two encounters and should get better as the season progresses.

They dropped their opener by four points to a strong, tall Chillicothe quintet and overwhelmed the Mustangs of Westfall in their second contest.

Lack of height hurts the Red and Black but aggressiveness and good shooting are counted on to offset the height disadvantage. The Tigers shot better than 50 per cent from the floor in their last outing.

Coach John Lawhorn has been opening with Terry Morrison and Dave Mehalick at the guards, Mike Hamrick at center and Dave Truex and Don Valentine up front.

BLESSED with a good bench, Lawhorn has been able to get added strength from Dan Graham, Jim Neal, Scott Clifton and Kent Wolfe so far this season with several other boys showing improvement.

Circleville will be idle Saturday night and be back in SCOL action Dec. 10 when the Indians of Hillsboro come to town.

Fair Hooker Likely Starter For Browns
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Wide receiver Fair Hooker, who suffered a hip injury at Houston last Sunday, is expected to be ready for action when the Cleveland Browns meet the Cincinnati Bengals here Sunday afternoon.

But his absence would cause less concern than it might have a week ago. The reason: The showing of Dave Jones, who moved into the left side slot after Hooker was injured and played three quarters against the Oilers.

Washington Bids For New Major Team

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — "Shocked" when the Washington Senators skipped town, lawmakers in the nation's capital have begun to pitch for a new major league franchise.

They made their first big delivery Wednesday at the winter baseball meetings ... and threw a curve in the process.

A delegation of congressmen and community leaders from Washington expressed their strong desire for a team while baseball officials listened patiently for hours.

After the meeting, there was a hint of pressure from Washington if baseball doesn't come through by 1973.

"We must have a team in Washington by 1973," Joseph Dansansky, president of the city's board of trade, told a news conference.

What if baseball doesn't satisfy the demand? "We'll run over that bridge when we come to it," Rep. B.F. Sisk, R-Cal. said in a curt tone.

Sisk went on, softening his platform: "We are here on the request of the leadership of Congress. We are reasonable men working for the good of baseball. We don't want to hurt baseball."

Washington was caught short when the Senators pulled out of town for Dallas-Fort Worth last September. Owner Bob Short blamed financial difficulties.

"We've gone through a shock and sometimes a shock awakens you," said Sisk. "We realize that we took major league baseball for granted. We're not here to cry over spilled milk."

Other members of the delegation which flew 2,500 miles to appear before Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and the 24 major league owners were Rep. Frank Horton, R-NY; Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill.; Rep. Joel Broyhill, D-Va.; Walter Washington, mayor of the nation's capital; Gilbert Hahn, chairman of the city council and John Kaufmann, president of the Washington Evening Star.

All-Ohio Class AA Selections Announced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State champion Steubenville Catholic and third-ranked Cleveland Holy Name each placed two players on The Associated Press Class AA All-Ohio high school football first team today.

Steubenville Catholic, which ran away with the state's Class AA mythical championship, landed running back Mike Mehalik and middle guard Dave Moitis, the heart of the champs' rugged defense.

Four area gridlers received added recognition in the Ohio Class AA All-State selections.

Mark Davey and Mike Hamrick of Circleville and Jack Brinker and Terry McDaniel of Teays Valley were all given honorable mention on the star studded squad.

Cleveland Holy Name was represented by running back Ray Ressler and Jim Polak, an imposing defensive tackle.

Ressler, a 5-10, 180-pound senior who was the heart of Holy Name's attack, was named the Class AA back of the year.

Lineman of the year honors went to huge Walt Vrabel, a defensive end from Campbell Memorial who was second team all-state a year ago. Vrabel, 6-4, 250 pounds and a senior, heads the big, tough first defensive unit.

Kim Girkins, 6-3, 190-pound all-star star at Granville, won the quarterbacking job in a close battle with Hal Spears of Ironton.

Girkins, a basketball regular and good enough as a baseball pitcher and shortstop to attract scouts, completed 97 of 180 passes for 1,480 yards. A regular safety, the senior also intercepted three passes.

Among the first team defensive selections was linebacker Scott Bowers of Hartsville Lake, a brother of 1970 Class AA state back of the year Brian Bowers.

There were no first team repeaters from the all-state squad of last year since the 1970 selections were all seniors.

The three offensive and defensive teams were selected on the basis of recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

OSU Tops Georgia Tech, But Taylor Not Too Happy

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Fred Taylor wasn't enamored at the way his fifth-ranked Ohio State basketball team opened the season with a 63-55 victory at Georgia Tech Wednesday night.

"It looked like we expected things to happen instead of making them happen ourselves," said the coach of the defending Big Ten champions. "As big as we are, we should have more rebounds than that," added Taylor.

Luke Witte, a 7-foot junior, pulled down 13 rebounds to give the much taller Buckeyes a 40-30 edge on the boards and scored 20 points to lead the attack.

Dan Gerhard, filling in for the injured Allan Hornyak, contributed 16 points and his play with fellow guard Dave Merchant pleased Taylor.

"I was pleased with our defense and the overall play of our guards," said Taylor, who is preparing his team for its home opener Saturday night with Oregon.

In the first heavy night of the Ohio college season, Mid-American favorite Miami clicked for a 101-68 walloping of Marietta behind sophomore guard Phil Lumpkin's 20 points. The Dayton newcomer hit his first six floor shots.

Kent State outscored Purdue from the field, 30 to 26 goals, but the Boilermakers hit 30 free throws to the Flash's 15 to triumph 82-75. Ruben Vance of Kent took game scoring honors with 26, three more than Bob Ford of the Boilermakers.

Cincinnati took advantage of 35 Cleveland State turnovers and trimmed the Vikings 93-68 behind sophomore Lloyd Batts' 26 points.

Ohio University, expected to be Miami's stiffest Mid-American competition, slipped by Muskingum 76-66 despite 37 per cent floor shooting. Bob Howell led a balanced Bobcat attack with 15 points. Gene Ford and John Pearson had 16 apiece for the Muskies.

Donald Smith, a teammate of Lumpkin's at Dayton Roth High School, counted 22 points in Dayton's 87-78 decision over Bowling Green.

The Flyers outscored the Falcons 14-2 in one first half stretch to hand new Bowling Green mentor Pat Haley, a former Dayton assistant, a loss in his debut.

Toledo outscored Eastern Michigan 14-9 in overtime for an 87-82 victory after trailing at halftime 46-33. Tom Kozelko, the lone returning Rocket regular, poured in 27 points while 6-7 sophomore George Gervin had 26 for the visitors.

Xavier fell 75-57 to the explosive, 14th-ranked Kansas team. The Musketeers stayed in contention through much of the first period until Kansas went on a 12-point scoring spurge to take a 37-20 halftime lead.

Xavier put on a mild threat midway through the second half, mostly on the efforts of Bob Fullerton, who had a game-high 23 points, but Kansas opened the gap again and maintained a 20-point lead the rest of the way out.

Defending Ohio Conference champion Capital overwhelmed Lockbourne Air Force Base 137-66 behind the 25-point performance of junior guard Scott Weakley. The 137 points was a school record.

Paced by junior forward Leonard Paul with 24 points, Akron whipped Malone 81-69. Previously defense-minded Ashland exhibited a potent offense under new coach Jerry Walke in rolling over Walsh 99-78.

Other games: Wooster 82, Heidelberg 68; Baldwin-Wallace 76, John Carroll 70, Indiana Central 62, Wittenberg 59; Oberlin 96, Case Western Reserve 84; West Liberty State, W. Va. 75, Steubenville 71; Grove City, Pa. 91, Mount Union 82; Defiance 109, Adrian, Mich. 71; Ohio Northern 91, Bluffton 84; Wright-Patterson AFB 72, Wübenforce 70; Denison 76, Bethany, W. Va. 69; Findlay 87, Northern Kentucky State 81.

Don Gullett Selected Outstanding Pitcher

CINCINNATI (AP)—Twenty-year-old Don Gullett, who compiled a 16-6 mark this year, has been selected by the Cincinnati Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association as the "Outstanding Pitcher of 1971" of the Cincinnati Reds.

Gullett, only two years out of high school, started 31 games and relieved in four others, and posted an earned run average of 2.64.

CHS Opens SCO Action At Trace

Circleville opens the defense of its South Central Ohio League title Friday night when the Tigers travel to Miami Trace to meet the Panthers.

Although the Panthers have not shown too much this season they have the guns and are always at their best when they meet Circleville.

The Tigers will have their work cut out for them if they are going to repeat as league champions and can't afford to relax for one minute.

Balance in the league will make it tough for the Tigers with Greenfield, Wilmington and Hillsboro all sending strong units into action.

SOME experience and a good crop of reserves from last years fine squad will form the nucleus of this year's Miami Trace team.

The Jones boys are back along with senior guard Kenny Goodson, Jack Reno and a fine guard from last year's reserves, Glen Gifford.

The Tigers have looked good in their first two encounters and should get better as the season progresses.

They dropped their opener by four points to a strong, tall Chillicothe quintet and overwhelmed the Mustangs of Westfall in their second contest.

Lack of height hurts the Red and Black but aggressiveness and good shooting are counted on to offset the height disadvantage. The Tigers shot better than 50 per cent from the floor in their last outing.

Coach John Lawhorn has been opening with Terry Morrison and Dave Mehalik at the guards, Mike Hamrick at center and Dave Trux and Don Valentine up front.

BLESSED with a good bench, Lawhorn has been able to get added strength from Dan Graham, Jim Neal, Scott Clifton and Kent Wolfe so far this season with several other boys showing improvement.

Circleville will be idle Saturday night and be back in SCOL action Dec. 10 when the Indians of Hillsboro come to town.

Fair Hooker Likely Starter For Browns

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Wide receiver Fair Hooker, who suffered a hip injury at Houston last Sunday, is expected to be ready for action when the Cleveland Browns meet the Cincinnati Bengals here Sunday afternoon.

But his absence would cause less concern than it might have a week ago. The reason: The showing of Dave Jones, who moved into the left side slot after Hooker was injured and played three quarters against the Oilers.

Washington Bids For New Major Team

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — "Shocked" when the Washington Senators skipped town, lawmakers in the nation's capital have begun to pitch for a new major league franchise.

They made their first big delivery Wednesday at the winter baseball meetings ... and threw a curve in the process.

A delegation of congressmen and community leaders from Washington expressed their strong desire for a team while baseball officials listened patiently for hours.

After the meeting, there was a hint of pressure from Washington if baseball doesn't come through by 1973.

"We must have a team in Washington by 1973," Joseph Dansansky, president of the city's board of trade, told a news conference.

What if baseball doesn't satisfy the demand? "We'll run over that bridge when we come to it," Rep. B.F. Sisk, R-Cal. said in a curt tone.

Sisk went on, softening his platform: "We are here on the request of the leadership of Congress. We are reasonable men working for the good of baseball. We don't want to hurt baseball."

Washington was caught short when the Senators pulled out of town for Dallas-Fort Worth last September. Owner Bob Short blamed financial difficulties.

"We've gone through a shock and sometimes a shock awakens you," said Sisk. "We realize that we took major league baseball for granted. We're not here to cry over spilled milk."

Other members of the delegation which flew 2,500 miles to appear before Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and the 24 major league owners were Rep. Frank Horton, R-NY; Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill.; Rep. Joel Broyhill, D-Va.; Walter Washington, mayor of the nation's capitol; Gilberg Hahn, chairman of the city council and John Kaufmann, president of the Washington Evening Star.

Sullivan Heads AP All-America Grid Selections

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Would you like to have a quarterback who has completed 162 of 281 passes for 2,012 yards and 20 touchdowns and three running backs who have carried 745 times for 4,841 yards?

That's what The Associated Press All-America team, announced Wednesday, has in Heisman Trophy winner Pat Sullivan of Auburn, the quarterback, plus runners Ed Marinaro of Cornell, Greg Pruitt of Oklahoma and Lydell Mitchell of Penn State.

The AP All-America team will appear Thursday, Dec. 9, on The Bob Hope Special (NBC-TV, 9-10 p.m., EST).

Breaking down the running backs, Marinaro carried 356 times for a record 1,881 yards, Pruitt 160 times for 1,476 yards and Mitchell 229 times for 1,484 yards. Pruitt and Mitchell each have one regular season game left.

Marinaro also is major college football's all-time leading groundgainer with 4,715 yards. Mitchell has established an NCAA record by scoring 28 touchdowns while Pruitt has a shot at the standard of 9.62 yards per carry. He needs a super effort in Saturday's windup against Oklahoma State.

Should the running game suffer a relapse, Sullivan can crank up and unload to his favorite Auburn target, split end Terry Beasley. The speedy red-head caught 55 passes for 846 yards and 12 touchdowns. Doug Kingsriter of Minnesota is the tight end.

Forming the interior line are tackles Jerry Sizemore of Texas and John Vella of Southern California, guards Reggie McKenzie of Michigan and Royce Smith of Georgia and center Tom Brahoney of Oklahoma.

Even such runners as Marinaro, Pruitt and Mitchell probably would have a tough time running against the All-America defensive line—ends Walt Patulski of Notre Dame and Snylie Gebhart of Georgia Tech, tackles Larry Jacobson of Nebraska and Mel Long of Toledo and middle guard Rich Glover of Nebraska.

Patulski, a monstrous 265-pounder, reportedly could be the first pro draft pick if the Buffalo Bills continue at the bottom of the National Football League.

Jacobson won the Outland Trophy as the nation's best interior lineman, Glover is the reigning Lineman of the Week for his 22 tackles in Nebraska's 35-31 victory over Oklahoma and Long, a 24-year-old Marine veteran, won the Navy Cross for gallantry beyond the call of duty in Vietnam when he single-handedly wiped out an enemy machine gun nest.

The linebackers are Dave Chaney of San Jose State, Jeff Siemon of Stanford and Mike Taylor of Michigan with Notre Dame's Clarence Ellis, Tennessee's Bobby Majors and Tom Myers of Syracuse in the secondary.

Floridians, Carolina Win ABA Contests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two points in two games and now half a game separates three teams in the American Basketball Association's well-packed East Division.

That's the results of Wednesday night's only two ABA contests, the Floridians' 107-106 overtime squeaker over Dallas and Carolina's come-from-behind 118-117 nerve jangler against Pittsburgh.

The Floridians appeared en route to an easy victory over the Chaparrals as they grabbed a 51-38 halftime lead. But the Chaps fought back and forced the game into overtime as Rich Jones hit a 15-foot jump shot with 27 seconds remaining in regulation play.

But Mack Calvin sank a pair of free throws with 12 seconds to go in overtime to lift the Floridians to victory—and Dallas missed a chance to pull it out with six to go when center George Johnson failed to sink an eight-footer. Guard Steve Jones led the Chaps with 26 points and Willie Long topped the Floridians with 26.

Larry Miller's 34 points and Jim McDaniel's 24 led Carolina's attack—but it was Gene Little's only two field goals of the game that put the Cougars on top to stay as they rallied from a 13-point fourth-quarter deficit. John Brisker of the Condors topped all scorers with 42 points.

The results left the Floridians third in the East, six games off Kentucky's pace, with Pittsburgh, Carolina and New York deadlocked in fourth, 6½ games back. Dallas, in the West, is tied with Denver, seven games behind front-running Utah.

New Year's Day Marks Racing Start

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio horse racing season will open New Year's Day in 1972, the earliest start in its history.

The Jan. 1 date for Toledo Raceway Park's thoroughbred meeting was approved Wednesday by the Ohio Racing Commission at its regular monthly meeting.

Raceway had been scheduled to start Jan. 7, but a conflict in dates with Hazel Park in Detroit led to the change. The 49-day Toledo meeting will close Feb. 26.

OC Gridders Selected

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP)—Champion Ohio Wesleyan and runnerup Baldwin-Wallace each placed nine players on the first and second teams of the Ohio Conference all-league football squads selected by the coaches.

The first team included five repeaters from 1970. They were Tom Graham of Baldwin-Wallace and Joe Paolini of Wittenberg on the offense and Tom Krivos of Wooster, Dave Coad of Baldwin-Wallace and Ed Gryzbowski of Kenyon on the defensive unit.

Steve Chase, who led Ohio Wesleyan to the conference crown, was the all-conference quarterback after being named the Mike Gregory Award winner as the top offensive back in the league.

Gregory Award offensive line selections Tom Hattersley of Denison and John Groff of Baldwin-Wallace were given automatic berths as were Hank Critchfield Award winners Dave Coad of Baldwin-Wallace and Bob Baun of Wittenberg on the defense.

Nine league schools placed players on the squads, which also included six from Wittenberg and five from Denison.

The selections:

FIRST TEAM OFFENSE
Tight End Jim Hart, Ohio Wesleyan; tackles Henry Newton, Ohio Wesleyan, and John Groff, Baldwin-Wallace; guards John Yezerksi, Baldwin-Wallace, and Joe Paolini, Wittenberg; center Tom Hattersley, Denison; wide receivers Bruce Cartwright, Mount Union, and Tom Graham, Baldwin-Wallace; quarterback Steve Chase, Ohio Wesleyan; running backs Colby Byrom, Capital; Gary Sherman, Wittenberg, and Bill Harris, Denison; kicker Bob Macoritti, Wooster.

FIRST TEAM DEFENSE
Ends Steve Dutton, Ohio Wesleyan, and John Kennedy, Mount Union; tackles Greg Cincinnati, Mount Union, and Tom Graham, Baldwin-Wallace; guards John Yezerksi, Baldwin-Wallace, and Joe Paolini, Wittenberg; center Tom Hattersley, Denison; wide receivers Bruce Cartwright, Mount Union, and Tom Graham, Baldwin-Wallace; quarterback Steve Chase, Ohio Wesleyan; running backs Colby Byrom, Capital; Gary Sherman, Wittenberg, and Bill Harris, Denison; kicker Bob Macoritti, Wooster.

Cincinnati Royals Acquire Jake Jones
CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Royals, who stand 8-13 in the Central Division of the National Basketball Association have acquired guard Jake Jones on waivers from Philadelphia.

Jones, a 6-foot-3 rookie from Assumption College, joined the Royals Wednesday night.

Sullivan Heads AP All-America Grid Selections

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Would you like to have a quarterback who has completed 162 of 281 passes for 2,012 yards and 20 touchdowns and three running backs who have carried 745 times for 4,841 yards?

That's what The Associated Press All-America team, announced Wednesday, has in Heisman Trophy winner Pat Sullivan of Auburn, the quarterback, plus runners Ed Marinaro of Cornell, Greg Pruitt of Oklahoma and Lydell Mitchell of Penn State.

The AP All-America team will appear Thursday, Dec. 9, on The Bob Hope Special (NBC-TV, 9-10 p.m., EST).

Breaking down the running backs, Marinaro carried 356 times for a record 1,881 yards, Pruitt 160 times for 1,476 yards and Mitchell 229 times for 1,484 yards. Pruitt and Mitchell each have one regular season game left.

Marinaro also is major college football's all-time leading groundgainer with 4,715 yards. Mitchell has established an NCAA record by scoring 28 touchdowns while Pruitt has a shot at the standard of 9.62 yards per carry. He needs a super effort in Saturday's winup against Oklahoma State.

Should the running game suffer a relapse, Sullivan can crank up and unload to his favorite Auburn target, split end Terry Beasley. The speedy red-head caught 55 passes for 846 yards and 12 touchdowns. Doug Kingsriter of Minnesota is the tight end.

Forming the interior line are tackles Jerry Sizemore of Texas and John Vella of Southern California, guards Reggie McKenzie of Michigan and Royce Smith of Georgia and center Tom Brahoney of Oklahoma.

Even such runners as Marinaro, Pruitt and Mitchell probably would have a tough time running against the All-America defensive line—ends Walt Patulski of Notre Dame and Smylie Gebhart of Georgia Tech, tackles Larry Jacobson of Nebraska and Mel Long of Toledo and middle guard Rich Johnson of Nebraska.

Patulski, a monstrous 265-pounder, reportedly could be the first pro draft pick if the Buffalo Bills continue at the bottom of the National Football League.

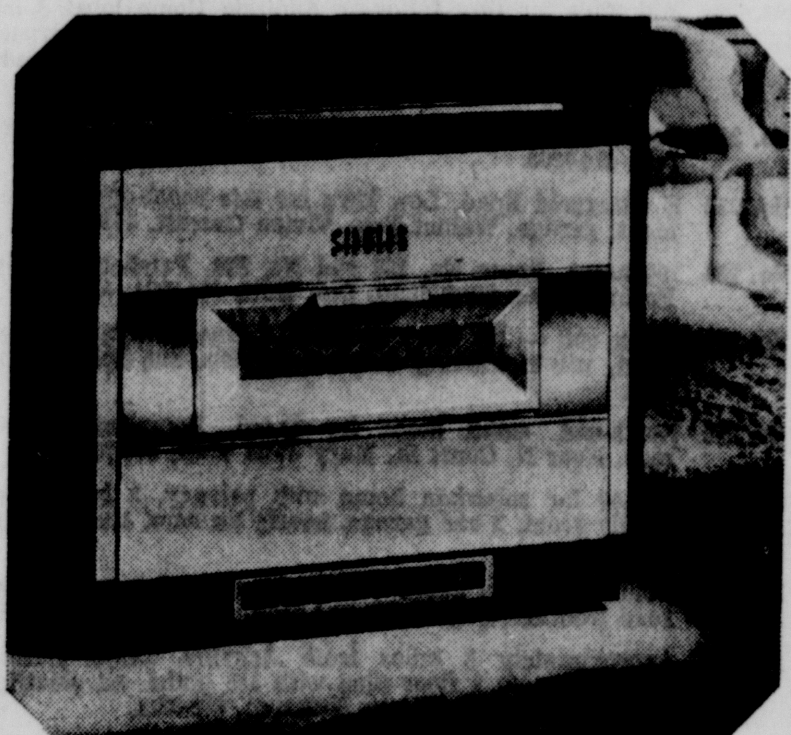

Jacobson won the Outland Trophy as the nation's best interior lineman, Glover is the reigning Lineman of the Week for his 22 tackles in Nebraska's 35-31 victory over Oklahoma and Long, a 24-year-old Marine veteran, won the Navy Cross for gallantry beyond the call of duty in Vietnam when he single-handedly wiped out an enemy machine gun nest.

The linebackers are Dave Chaney of San Jose State, Jeff Siemon of Stanford and Mike Taylor of Michigan with Notre Dame's Clarence Ellis, Tennessee's Bobby Majors and Tom Myers of Syracuse in the secondary.

Cleveland Indians Planning Trades
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Indians will announce an eight-player trade this morning in Phoenix, Ariz., that will bring to the Indians centerfielder Del Unser of the Texas Rangers.

Cleveland Plain Dealer Sports Writer Russell Schneider reported the trade in Thursday's edition of the newspaper and said the Indians would also receive left-handed relief specialist Dennis Riddlesberger and two minor-league pitchers, whose identity would be revealed at the news conference this morning at Phoenix.

In exchange the Rangers would receive catcher Ken Suarez, outfielder Roy Foster, and pitchers Rich Hand and Mike Paul.

OC Gridders Selected

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP)—Champion Ohio Wesleyan and runnerup Baldwin-Wallace each placed nine players on the first and second teams of the Ohio Conference all-league football squads selected by the coaches.

The first team included five repeaters from 1970. They were Tom Graham of Baldwin-Wallace and Joe Paolini of Wittenberg on the offense and Tom Krivos of Wooster, Dave Coad of Baldwin-Wallace and Ed Gryzbowski of Kenyon on the defensive unit.

Steve Chase, who led Ohio Wesleyan to the conference crown, was the all-conference quarterback after being named the Mike Gregory Award winner as the top offensive back in the league.

Gregory Award offensive line selections Tom Hattersley of Denison and John Groff of Baldwin-Wallace were given automatic berths as were Hank Critchfield Award winners Dave Coad of Baldwin-Wallace and Bob Baun of Wittenberg on the defense.

Nine league schools placed players on the squads, which also included six from Wittenberg and five from Denison.

The selections:

FIRST TEAM OFFENSE
Tight End Jim Hart, Ohio Wesleyan; tackles Henry Newton, Ohio Wesleyan, and John Groff, Baldwin-Wallace; guards John Yezerski, Baldwin-Wallace, and Joe Paolini, Wittenberg; center Tom Hattersley, Denison; wide receivers Bruce Cartwright, Mount Union, and Tom Graham, Baldwin-Wallace; quarterback Steve Chase, Ohio Wesleyan; running backs Colby Byrom, Capital; Gary Sherman, Wittenberg, and Bill Harris, Denison; kicker Bob Macoritti, Wooster.

FIRST TEAM DEFENSE
Ends Steve Dutton, Ohio Wesleyan, and John Kennedy, Mount Union; tackles Greg

Cincinnati Royals Acquire Jake Jones

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Royals, who stand 8-13 in the Central Division of the National Basketball Association have acquired guard Jake Jones on waivers from Philadelphia.

Jones, a 6-foot-3 rookie from Assumption College, joined the Royals Wednesday night.

Peck, Baldwin-Wallace, and Tom Krivos, Wooster; guards Larry Johnson and Lynn Sherman, Capital; linebackers Bob Baun, Wittenberg, and Ed Gryzbowski, Kenyon; backs Dave Coad, Baldwin-Wallace; Tom Peyton, Ohio Wesleyan; Terry Naponic, Muskingum, and Gary McDowell, Wittenberg.

SECOND TEAM OFFENSE
Tight end Randy Blake, Marietta; tackles Tony Gilene, Denison, and Bob Brown, Mount Union; guards Tim Rawlings, Ohio Wesleyan, and Ted Brunner, Heidelberg; center Steve Clifton, Wooster; wide receivers Willie Avery, Baldwin-Wallace, and Steve Traylor, Otterbein; quarterback Ed Casey, Baldwin-Wallace; backs Terry Nagy, Baldwin-Wallace; Nick Roberts, Mount Union and Ed Exler, Denison.

SECOND TEAM DEFENSE
Ends Ralph Haditsch, Denison, and Roger Parker, Wittenberg; tackles Dale Pittenger, Wittenberg, and Doug Warner, Heidelberg; guards Ed Warner and Joe Coy, Ohio Wesleyan; linebackers Doug Jones, Marietta, and Les Ritter, Capital; backs Rick Quayle, Wooster; Pat Herron, Heidelberg; Henry Lewis, Baldwin-Wallace; Dave Everson, Oberlin, and Bob Dubovee, Ohio Wesleyan.

Effect Of Dollar Devaluation Small For Most Americans

NEW YORK (AP) — Devaluation of the dollar would have a bigger bite than bite as far as the average American is concerned.

The question of devaluing the dollar—reducing its value in relation to other currencies—was a vital subject this week at a meeting in Rome of top finance officials of the 10 richest non-Communist nations.

The meeting of the Group of Ten ended Wednesday with reported progress but no agreement on means of solving the international monetary crisis. Another meeting was set for Dec. 17-18 in Washington.

The United States has been resisting demands of other countries for devaluation of the dollar. Those countries want an unstated increase in the American price of gold—$35 an ounce—to decrease the value of the dollar.

The free market price of gold is $43 an ounce. Even if the United States raised its dollar price to that amount, more than European nations are believed to be asking, the only direct effect in this country would be a possible reopening of previously unprofitable gold mines.

Devaluation in terms of gold, however, could ease the way for an upward revaluation of foreign currencies. And even if dollar devaluation in terms of foreign currencies were to come out of the Group of Ten negotiations, economists say it wouldn't hit the pocketbooks of individuals in this country to any appreciable extent.

"So far as the individual is concerned, this whole question so hotly debated in Rome couldn't matter less," said an economist for a major New York bank.

This would be the case, however, only if the individual confined his purchases to American goods and spent his vacations in the United States.

"In the long run," the bank economist said, "devaluation would produce more jobs in the United States and make U.S. goods more competitive abroad, especially with the goods produced by West Germany and Japan."

This would result because U.S. goods exported to other countries would be priced lower, therefore would be easier to sell. Foreign goods brought into this country would likely cost more, cramping their sales.

The economist said devaluation would particularly improve the competitive position of small U.S. cars and some electronics products, such as radio and television sets.

American Pilot Rescued After Harrowing Adventure

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Nearly 200 miles away from his home base, Capt. Alvin W. Moore II ran from tree to tree, from rice field to rice field, deep inside Cambodia. North Vietnamese bullets whizzed over his head for more than two hours.

His face, right arm and right leg were burned from a flash fire in the cockpit of his light bomber when it was shot down while supporting Cambodian troops 100 miles from the South Vietnamese border.

The 25-year-old pilot from Livingston, Calif., was on a low bombing pass near Kompong Thom. Suddenly his twin-engine jet shook.

"You're on fire!" his wingman radioed. As the flames reached the cockpit, Moore parachuted into the North Vietnamese lines.

The wingman radioed a command plane in the area, and within minutes rescue aircraft were on the way from Bien Hoa, Moore's base in South Vietnam.

Two Jolly Green Giant helicopters swooped down for the pickup, but heavy ground fire forced them back. Their escorting fighter-bombers began pounding the enemy guns.

The Cambodian ground forces knew Moore's approximate location, having been alerted by radio by the American rescue team. Riding armored personnel carriers, they fought their way through the North Vietnamese lines and carried Moore to a secure location.

On a second attempt, a Jolly Green Giant commanded by another California, Capt. Stephen Tyler of Los Angeles, picked Moore up and flew him back to Bien Hoa.

The rescue was made Monday, but the Air Force did not disclose details of the operation until today.

"Except for getting hit," said Moore, "everything went my way all day."

Computerized Insurance Claims Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The costly and often controversial computation of federal health insurance claims eventually may be taken away from private business and run by the government, a health care official has told Congress.

Private data processing firms such as H. Ross Perot's Electronic Data Systems could lose part or all of their now-flourishing business with Medicare and Medicaid contractors, said Robert Mayne, deputy director of program operations in the Bureau of Health Insurance.

Mayne made the prediction Wednesday during a House subcommittee's fourth hearing into Perot's financial ties with the federal medical programs for the elderly and the poor.

The intergovernmental relations subcommittee has heard charges that Perot's EDS corporation has made more than 100 per cent profit on some of its Medicare business and that federal regulations were violated in many of the nine Medicare contracts granted Perot prior to approval of the Social Security Administration.

Mayne testified that Perot's firm has a good system for processing claims and that it is particularly outstanding in the field of operations. He said, however, he did not consider the EDS-developed system to be exclusive, and he doubted that Perot had the right to protect his concept from competitors, including a federally sponsored model system.

Ohio Man Held In Truck Theft

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati man has been remanded to the custody of a U.S. marshal on a charge of theft of a U.S. Army truck from the post stockade at Ft. Knox, Ky., last Jan. 26.

Paul Sanders, 20, was arrested here Wednesday by FBI agents.

Following a hearing before a U.S. magistrate, Sanders was remanded to custody of the marshal for removal to the Western District of Kentucky for further proceedings.

Jobs Available In Resources Department Soon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Director William Nye says Vietnam veterans will be given special consideration when officers of the state Natural Resources Department interview job applicants in Cuyahoga, Portage, Butler and Warren counties in the next week.

A total of 63 Federal Emergency Employment Act posts have been allotted to the department. Both full and parttime jobs will be available.

Nye said veterans in college will be encouraged to enter work-study programs being developed by the department and colleges in the four counties.

Interviews will be held at the Bureau of Employment Services offices in Cleveland at 10 a.m. Friday, Ravenna at 2 p.m. Friday, Hamilton at 10 a.m.

Conference On Aging Political Arena?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has been accused of playing politics with the White House Conference on Aging by using it as a forum to announce a "headline-clogging" crackdown on substandard nursing homes.

"In some groups there was quite a strong feeling about the timing of this announcement," said James G. Haughton of Chicago, a co-chairman of the conference's health section.

Tax Evaders Serve Sentences In Shifts

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A federal court judge in Louisville is letting two brothers serve their prison terms for income tax evasion in shifts so their plastering firm can stay in business.

James and William Doll pleaded guilty to the evasion charges. Each was fined $10,000 and sentenced to a year and a day in prison.

Study Of Sardines Brings New Weather Information

By JEANNINE YEOMANS
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — One of the nation's top oceanographers says a study of why sardines disappeared off the California coast is leading to a new method of predicting the weather years in advance.

Dr. William Nierenberg told the World Affairs Council Wednesday that when California scientists were asked more than 20 years ago to discover what caused depletion of the sardines, they began intensive studies not only of fishing but also of Pacific Ocean temperatures, currents, winds, humidity, and other aspects of ocean weather.

"Probably the least important thing out of all this we learned was what happened to the sardines," he said. Scientists, mostly at Scripps Institution of Oceanography near San Diego, studying weather patterns for the past 100 years, found there are relationships between changes in the ocean and the weather inland, Nierenberg said.

"Patterns are emerging that show for example this year the winter storms came earlier than usual to San Diego, while the warm large bodies of water near the middle of the North Pacific are farther south than usual," he said.

Nierenberg is director of the Scripps Institution and President Nixon's newly-appointed chairman of the National Advisory Council for the Oceans and Atmosphere.

"Almost all weather measurements now are made over land," Nierenberg said. "Yet the sea covers 70 per cent of the world's surface. The weather is always associated with water, 90 per cent of which comes from the oceans."

Crack In Ceiling Studied Too Late

HOLLISTER, Calif. (AP) — Ten members of the Hollister Elks Lodge gathered to discuss repairing a crack in the lodge's social room ceiling. They watched in horror as the ceiling gave way and crashed to the floor.

Anthony Mauro, exalted ruler of the lodge, said the men were covered with dust and plaster but escaped uninjured.

Katharine Hepburn Leaves Hospital

BOSTON (AP) — Actress Katharine Hepburn has left Massachusetts General Hospital for an undisclosed location.

A hospital spokesman said Tuesday that Miss Hepburn, who had been in the hospital since last Friday, underwent no surgery but a number of tests were performed.

weather by changes in the oceans "is relatively new but in the full process of development." He predicted it would be in operation within two or three years.

"The possible advantages are unlimited," he said. For example, weathermen could tell farmers if there will be more or less rain than usual a year ahead of time so they could plan what crops to plant.
